EDITORIAL NOTE

In preparing this new edition of the late Colonel W. F. Prideaux's 'Bibliography of the Works of Robert Louis Stevenson' the aim has been to bring the Bibliography up to date, but to change Colonel Prideaux's work as little as possible. Some errors in collations have been corrected, and a few notes, prices and location of copies which are constantly changing, and several facsimiles of title-pages which no longer have priority, have been omitted to make room for new material. The longest cut has been made at the end of Letters to his Family and Friends, for the insertion of the new edition with additional Letters, and of R. L. S. Teuila, a volume of posthumously published Poems, a few of which have several times been printed as unpublished.

Comparison with the first edition will show the changes.

So many separately printed editions have appeared since 1904, the date of the first edition, that all have not been given full collations, a number of them only a few lines of description.

Several interesting discoveries have been made, among them being two editions of John Nicholson, earlier than the accepted 'American Series, No. 60'; the copyright editions of

The Beach of Falesá, and The Beach of Falesá with The Bottle Imp, the text of which the first American edition of Island Nights' Entertainments follows; the copyright edition in three parts of Weir of Hermiston; an earlier issue of Ticonderoga; and the first American edition, so long sought, of Macaire, a discovery of special interest to the American collector.

The compiling of this new edition has been a pleasant task in memory of three good friends who spent happy hours together, and who knew Stevenson's writings so well—Colonel Prideaux, whose work is monumental, Harry Elkins Widener, whose collection has made this task possible, and Luther S. Livingston.

Cambridge, 1917.

Lifey View
Ringussie
August 22nd 1882.

Dear Sir,

I have revised my plans, and will do myself the pleasure of being with you, if it be still convenient on the 15th of September. I shall write again when I can be sure of my movements: if I do not hear from you again, may I conclude your house will be open to me as early as the 15th? The 14th, I see, must be too soon for Mrs Ireland's convenience. I shall hope not to trespass beyond two nights, if I may stay so long? I shall necessarily be somewhat hurried this Autumn. With many thanks for your Kindness, let me ask you to give my compliments to Mrs Ireland and subscribe myself.

Yours most sincerely
Robert Louis Stevenson.

AN INLAND VOYAGE: 1878.

An | Inland Voyage. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | 'Thus sang they in the English boat.' | MARVELL. | [Publishers' device, with motto 'Arbor Scientiæ Arbor Vitæ.'] | London: | C. Kegan Paul & Co., 1, Paternoster Square. | 1878.

Collation:—Post octavo, pp. x+238, consisting of Half-title, An Inland Voyage, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Frontispiece, by Walter Crane, an unnumbered leaf on plate paper; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], at foot of verso (The Rights of Translation and of Reproduction are reserved.); Preface, pp. [v]-viii; Contents, pp. [ix], x; Text, pp. [1]-237; Imprint in centre of p. [238], 'London: | Bradbury, Agnew, & Co., Printers, Whitefriars.'

Issued in sky-blue silk-grained cloth boards, bevelled, with a river-landscape stamped in gold and black upon the front, between one black line at top, and two at bottom. Lettered in gilt across the back—'An | Inland | Voyage | Robert Louis |

Stevenson | [A canoe paddle, diagonally stamped] | C. Kegan Paul & Co.' The paper was ribbed, with the edges entirely cut. The published price was seven shillings and sixpence.

Second Edition: 1881.

This edition was issued on cheaper paper, the title-page being the same, with the exception of the words 'Second Edition.' It is a crown octavo, pp. xii+238, and advertisements at end, pp. 32. Issued in light brown cloth, cut, the landscape and lettering on the cover in black and red.

It contains the dedication 'To | Sir Walter Grindlay Simpson, Bart. | My dear Cigarette,' | etc., pp. [ix, x], following 'The Preface to the First Edition,' not in the earlier edition.

In 1884 the stereotype plates came into the possession of Messrs. Chatto and Windus, who soon afterwards printed another edition from those plates. In 1900 the book was entirely re-set, and a new edition in crown octavo printed from the new type. At the end of 1902 a Presentation Edition was issued, with illustrations, of which the following is a description:—

Illustrated Edition: 1902.

An | Inland Voyage | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | 'Thus sang they in the English boat' | Marvell | London | Chatto & Windus | 1902.

Collation:—Twelvemo, pp. xiv+238, consisting of Half-title, An | Inland Voyage, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Frontispiece; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], on verso the imprint, 'Printed at the De Vinne Press, New York, U.S.A.'; Dedication, pp. v, vi; Preface to First Edition, pp. vii-x; Contents, pp. xi, xii; Illustrations from Photographs by J. B. Carrington, p. xiii; p. [xiv] blank; Fly-title, p. [1]; p. [2] blank; Text, of An Inland Voyage, pp. 3-238. There are blank leaves at beginning and end. The title-page is printed in italic type, within red borders. There are headlines throughout, the pagination being at the foot of the pages. In addition to the frontispiece, there are eleven illustrations.

Issued in green imitation leather, with the title and ornamental designs on the back in gold, and a gold monogram within a circular border on the front cover, and with gilt edges.

The published price was six shillings net.

As will be seen from the imprint, this book was really an American production, and was issued in New York by Charles Scribner's Sons, at the price of one dollar and twenty-five cents. In The Book Buyer, vol. xxv. pp. 229-232 (October 1902), there is an interesting account of a trip taken 'Along the Route of Stevenson's Inland Voyage,' by Mr. James B. Carrington, from whose photographs the illustrations of the volume are taken.

Collation :—Crown octavo, pp. viii+180, consisting of Half-title, Edinburgh, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; Contents, pp. [v, vi], verso blank; List of Illustrations, pp. [vii, viii], verso blank; Text, pp. [1]-180; at the foot of page 180 is the imprint, 'London | Printed by Strangeways & Sons, Tower St., Cambridge Circus.'

Issued in the roxburghe style of binding, grey cloth boards with persian leather back, the top gilt, other edges uncut, lettered on back, within a plain line border, 'Edinburgh, | Picturesque | Notes | By | R. L. Stevenson,' in gold.

This edition does not contain the etchings by Brunet-Debaines which were contained in the first issue, but the woodcuts are numerously reproduced.

Another edition was published in 1888, with the title-page the same except the date, 1889. The text was re-set in 182 pages. It was issued in red cloth, uncut, front lettered in gold.

Edinburgh | Picturesque Notes | by | Robert Louis Stevenson | with illustrations | By | T. Hamilton Crawford | Member of the Royal Scottish Water Colour Society | London | Seeley and Co. Limited | Essex Street, Strand | 1896.

Collation:—Square demy octavo, pp. viii+200, consisting of Half-title, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; Contents, pp. [v], vi; List of Illustrations, pp. [vii], viii; Text, pp. [1]-197; p. [198] blank; Advertisements, pp. [199, 200]. At the foot of page 197 is the imprint, 'Richard Clay and Sons, Limited, London and Bungay.'

Issued in the roxburghe style of binding, green cloth sides and darker green morocco back, top gilt, other edges uncut, heraldic devices on front in gold, and on the back thistle devices, and the lettering 'Edinburgh | Picturesque | Notes | by | Robert Louis | Stevenson | With | Illustrations | by | T. H. Crawford | R.S.W. | Seeley & Co.,' also in gold.

TRAVELS WITH A DONKEY: 1879.

Travels with a Donkey | in the Cévennes | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device, with motto 'Arbor Scientiæ Arbor Vitæ.'] | London | C. Kegan Paul & Co., 1 Paternoster Square | 1879.

Collation:—Post octavo, pp. xii+228, consisting of a blank leaf, pp. [i, ii]; p. [iii] blank; advertisements of An Inland Voyage, and Edinburgh: Picturesque Notes, within a single-lined frame, p. [iv]; Half-title (with imprint, 'London: |

Robson & Sons, Printers, Pancras Road, N.W.,' in centre of verso), pp. [v, vi]; Frontispiece by Walter Crane inserted; Title-page as above, pp. [vii, viii], verso blank; [Dedication to Sidney Colvin], pp. [ix], x; Contents, pp. [xi], xii; and Text, pp. [1]-227, including sectional fly-titles. The imprint is repeated at the foot of p. 227, p. [228] blank.

Issued in prussian green silk-grained cloth boards, bevelled, with mountainous landscape stamped in gold upon the front. Lettered in gold across the back, 'Travels | with a | Donkey | in the | Cévennes | Robert Louis | Stevenson | [The head of the Ass 'Modestine'] | C. Kegan Paul & Co.' The edges were untrimmed.

The published price was seven shillings and sixpence.

Second Edition: 1879.

The Second Edition, issued in 1879, agrees with the above in every particular, save that the words 'Second Edition' are added above the publishers' imprint on the title-page. The front cover is stamped with the landscape in black, and the head of Ass 'Modestine' is omitted on the back.

In 1884 the stereotype plates were transferred to Messrs. Chatto and Windus, who continued to issue the book at the price of two shillings and sixpence until 1899, when an edition in crown octavo was published at the price of six shillings. In 1900 the book was re-set, and a new edition was issued at six shillings. The edition at two shillings and sixpence is now out of print.

[98] in centre the imprint, 'Edinburgh: T. and A. Constable, | Printers to the Queen and to the University.' There are headlines throughout.

Issued in pale mauve-coloured paper wrappers, with the title-page (enclosed within a plain, double-ruled frame) reproduced upon the front. The book was issued with trimmed edges.

Revised Edition: 1888.

Deacon Brodie | or the Double Life | A Melodrama | in Five Acts and Eight Tableaux | By | William Ernest Henley | and | Robert Louis Stevenson | Edinburgh University Press: | T. and A. Constable, Printers to Her Majesty | MDCCCLXXXVIII.

Collation :—Crown octavo, pp. iv+88, consisting of a leaf with blank recto, and with list of Personages and Synopsis of Acts and Tableaux on verso, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; and Text, pp. [1]-88. There are headlines throughout. Beyond that upon the title-page there is no imprint.

Issued in stiff cream-coloured paper wrappers, with uncut edges. The front cover is lettered: 'No. . . . To be returned | To W. E. Henley, | 1 Merton Place, | Chiswick, | London, W.' at the head; 'Deacon Brodie | Or The Double Life' (with printers' ornament above) in the centre; and 'For Private Circulation Only' at the foot.

This play was first published in Three Plays by W. E. Henley and R. L. Stevenson, 1892 (Part 1. No. 36); afterwards in Four Plays, 1896, and separately in 1897 as Volume 1. of The Plays of W. E. Henley and R. L. Stevenson. (See below.)

First Separately Published Edition: 1897.

Deacon Brodie | or the Double Life | a Melodrama | In Five Acts and | Eight Tableaux | By W. E. Henley | & | R. L. Stevenson | London: William Heinemann | MDCCCXCVII.

Collation:—Square sixteenmo, pp. viii+182, consisting of Half title, Deacon Brodie | or The Double Life, p. [i]; Notice of The Plays of W. E. Henley & R. L. Stevenson, p. [ii]; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], at foot of verso, All Rights Reserved; Persons Represented, pp. [v, vi], verso blank; Synopsis of Acts and Tableaux, p. [vii]; Cast of characters at London: Prince's Theatre, 2nd July 1884, and Montreal, 26th September 1887, p. [viii]; Text, pp. [1]-182; at foot of p. 182 is the imprint, 'Printed by Ballantyne, Hanson & Co. | London and Edinburgh.' At the end is an unnumbered blank leaf, which forms part of the last sheet.

Issued in stiff paper wrappers at one shilling and sixpence, and in cloth boards at two shillings and sixpence. On the front wrapper is printed: The Plays of | W. E. Henley and R. L. Stevenson | Volume I | Deacon Brodie | Or The Double Life | A Melodrama | In Five Acts and | Eight Tableaux | Price 1/6, or in cloth 2/6 | London: William Heinemann.

Deacon Brodie; or, The Double Life, by R. L. Stevenson and W. E. Henley, was first produced at Pullan's Theatre of Varieties, Bradford, on December 28, 1882. In March 1883 a performance of the play took place at Her Majesty's Theatre, Aberdeen, when it was styled a 'New Scotch National Drama,' and on the afternoon of July 2, 1884, it was introduced to a London public at the Prince's Theatre. Nothing more than a succès d'estime was accorded to the play at any of these representations. The chief feature of the play was the performance of the Deacon by Mr. E. J. Heuley, a brother of one of the authors. Mr. Edmund Grace made his first appearance in the part of the ruffian, Humphrey Moore. According to The Athenæum of September 10, 1887, the play was re-arranged and to some extent rewritten by the authors, and was to be produced under the direction of Mr. E. J. Henley at Montreal on September 26, and—after a series of representations at Quebec, Toronto, Boston, Philadelphia, and other cities—at the Star Theatre, New York, about December 1. Mr. Henley was himself to sustain the part of the hero, and Messrs. Edmund Grace and Desmond were likewise to repeat their original characters.[1]

VIRGINIBUS PUERISQUE: 1881.

Virginibus Puerisque | And Other Papers | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device, with motto 'Arbor Scientiæ Arbor Vitæ.'] | London | C. Kegan Paul & Co., 1, Paternoster Square | 1881.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+296, consisting of Half-title, Virginibus Puerisque and other Papers, p. [i]; Advertisement of Travels with a Donkey, Inland Voyage, and Edinburgh: Picturesque Notes, p. [ii]; Title-page as above with 'The rights of translation and of reproduction are reserved' at foot of verso, pp. [iii, iv]; Dedicatory Letter to William Ernest Henley, pp. [v]-vi; Contents, pp. [vii, viii], verso blank; and Text, pp. [1]-296, followed by 'A List of Kegan Paul and Co.'s Publications,' 32 pp. The imprint 'Printed by William Clowes and Sons, Limited, London and Beecles' occurs at the foot of page 296.

Issued in orange-coloured cloth boards, bevelled. Lettered in gold across the back—'Virginibus Puerisque | and other | Papers | Robert Louis Stevenson | C. Kegan Paul & Co.' The edges were uncut.

One copy is on large paper, gilt top, other edges uncut, bound in green sateen boards, unlettered.

The published price was six shillings.

Virginibus Puerisque did not have at first a large sale, and in 1884 a small remainder was transferred to Messrs. Chatto and Windus, and does not seem to have been sold out till 1887. In that year the book was reset, and large and small paper editions (the latter in foolscap octavo) were printed off, of which a description is given below. Subsequent issues have been printed from the same stereotype plates, and the crown octavo size has been reverted to.

[1] The full cast of the play as performed in London and at Montreal is given in Three Plays, 1892, and in subsequent editions.

Issued in white buckram boards, with the title, etc., impressed in gold on the back. Printed on handmade paper, with the edges entirely uncut. A small paper edition, in foolscap octavo, being the second, was issued at the same time, and being printed from the same plates, is exactly similar, except that in place of the Certificate of Issue, it has a list of publications by Stevenson.

An illustrated edition was published in London by the Florence Press in 1910. It contains twelve illustrations in colour after designs by Norman Wilkinson.

THE STORY OF A LIE: 1882.

The Story of a Lie. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | London: | Hayley & Jackson, Little Queen St., W.C. | 1882.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. 80, consisting of Half-title, pp. [1, 2], verso blank; Title-page as above (with imprint—'James Goodwich & Sons, Printers, London'—in the centre of verso), pp. [3, 4]; Contents, pp. [5, 6], verso blank; and Text, pp. [7]-80. The headline is The Story of a Lie throughout, upon both sides of the page. The imprint is repeated at the foot of p. 80.

The Story of a Lie was prepared for issue in 1882, but, in consequence of a dispute which arose with the proposed publishers upon the question of Copyright, the project was abandoned, and the book withdrawn before publication. The work was never 'made up' for issue, and the few copies that have survived are merely such sets of the sheets as chanced to have been preserved by the publishers and printers. See Part IV., No. 52. The Story was originally published in The New Quarterly Magazine, New Series, No. 25, October 1879, pp. 307-355, and was not reprinted until it appeared in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Tales and Fantasies, vol. ii., 1895, pp. 293-374.

The Sire de Malétroit's Door, . . . . . 143-179

Previously printed in Temple Bar, vol. lii. pp. 53-69 (Jan. 1878).

Providence and the Guitar, . . . . . 183-234

Previously printed in London, vol. iv. pp. 417-418, 441-442, 465-466, 490-491 (Nov. 2—Nov. 23, 1878), under the title of Léon Berthelini's Guitar.

The Note on p. [ix] ran as follows:—I must prefix a word of thanks to the gentleman who condescended to borrow the gist of one of my stories, and even to honour it with the addition of his signature. This mark of appreciation emboldened me to make the present collection.—R. L. S.

This Note will be found in the first and second editions of New Arabian Nights, which were published in two volumes, and the American editions in one volume, published by Henry Holt & Co. and Charles Scribner's Sons.

Later in the same year (1882) the book was formed into one volume, and was issued at the price of six shillings, and it has continued to be printed from the same stereotype plates ever since. In 1884 a cheap edition bound in illustrated boards, but printed from the same stereo plates, was issued. A large paper edition, also printed from the same plates, was issued in 1889, and the collation, which is given below, applies to all the editions in crown octavo that have appeared since the end of 1882. Early in 1901 a sixpenny edition in illustrated wrappers was issued, and is still in print, whilst more recently still (1902) the book has been included in the charmingly printed 'St. Martin's Library' of Messrs. Chatto and Windus.

Mr. Graham Balfour (Life, i. 152) quotes a letter to Mr. R. A. M. Stevenson, which records the conception of these stories. '"The first idea of all was the hansom cabs, which I communicated to you in your mother's drawing-room in Chelsea. The same afternoon the Prince de Galles and the Suicide Club were invented, and several more now forgotten." The first half was actually written partly at Burford Bridge (April 1878), partly at Swanston, while The Rajah's Diamond was written at Monastier before the author set out with his ânesse.' In September 1878 he writes to Mr. Charles Baxter from Monastier that he has finished Arabian Nights. 'The Sire de Malétroit's Door (Door being substituted for the original "Mousetrap") was invented in France, first told over the fire one evening in Paris, and ultimately written at Penzance' (August 1877). 'Providence and the Guitar was based upon a story told by a strolling French actor and his Bulgarian wife, who had stayed at Grez.'

Large Paper Edition: 1889.

New Arabian Nights | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | A New Edition | London | Chatto & Windus, Piccadilly | 1889.

THE SILVERADO SQUATTERS: 1883.

Price Sixpence | The | Silverado Squatters | Sketches from a Californian Mountain | By | Robert

Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | London | Chatto & Windus, Piccadilly, W. | [Copyright. All rights reserved.]

Collation :—Royal octavo, pp. 14. There is no separate pagination; the first page has a 'dropped head,' as follows: 'The Silverado Squatters. | Sketches from a Californian Mountain. | By Robert Louis Stevenson, | Author of "New Arabian Nights," "Travels with a Donkey in the Cévennes," "An Inland Voyage," etc.' ; the remaining pages are numbered 28-39. The headline is The Silverado Squatters throughout, upon both sides of the page. There is no title-page proper, the above title appearing only upon the wrapper.

Issued in pale pea-green paper wrappers, with the above title upon p. [1], and an ornamental device upon p. [4]. Both are surrounded by a plain ruled frame, the words Price Sixpence, and Copyright. All rights reserved, being respectively above and below the rule. The pamphlet is undated, but was printed in 1883.

'Mr. Andrew Chatto, of Messrs. Chatto and Windus, to whom I am indebted for the gift of a copy of this most interesting pamphlet, informs me that it is composed of the first instalment of The Silverado Squatters reprinted from The Century Magazine, and nominally published in order to secure the English copyright. Mr. Chatto assures me that Ten copies only were printed. The pages were reprinted precisely as they stood in The Century Magazine, upon the reverse of p. 39 appearing the opening paragraphs of The Scenes of Cable's Romances.'—T. J. W.

In the Christmas catalogue of Mr. A. Lionel Isaacs, 1902, a very interesting copy of this pamphlet, in the original green wrappers, is advertised. On the inside of the front wrapper it has the following inscription in the handwriting of R. L. Stevenson :—

'This Strange and Imperfect Publication, one of an edition of 10 copies only, issued for ulterior purposes, on the 17*th day of October in the year of grace* 1883, is now in its character of a bibliographic rarity and candidate for the museums of the future [here offered by the author was written, but is erased] and as a handy compendium of mis-readings and errors of the press. In which it far excells the most extensive competitive collections, offered by the author to Walter A. Powell, the celebrated Scoto-Welshman of Hyères.'

As stated above, The Silverado Squatters was originally printed in The Century Illustrated Magazine, vol. xxvii. pp. 27-39 (November 1883); pp. 183-193 (December 1883).

First Published Edition.

The | Silverado Squatters | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | London | Chatto and Windus, Piccadilly | 1883 | [All rights reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+256; Half-title (with list of books 'By the Same Author,' on verso), pp. [i, ii]; Frontispiece inserted; Title (with motto from Cicero, De Off., I., xx, on verso), pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication to Virgil Williams and Dora Norton Williams, verso blank, pp. [v, vi]; Contents, pp. [vii, viii], verso blank; Text, pp. [1]-254; and imprint, 'Printed by William Clowes and Sons, Limited, | London and Beccles,' verso blank, pp. [255, 256].

In sage-green cloth, symbolically ornamented in chocolate colour and gold, and lettered on back in gold, 'The | Silverado | Squatters | Robert Louis | Stevenson | Chatto & Windus.' Dark brown end-papers. The frontispiece is by Mr. Joseph D. Strong, the husband of Mrs. Stevenson's daughter Isobel. The earliest issues of this book have inserted at the end a catalogue of 32 pages of books published by Messrs. Chatto and Windus, dated October 1883, but some copies have a catalogue dated November 1887, showing that the first edition of the book was still in print so late as that year.

The book was published in December 1883 at the price of six shillings.

Second Edition: 1886.

Early in 1886 the type of The Silverado Squatters was re-set, and a Second Edition (called on the title-page, A New Edition) was issued in two styles of binding—cloth boards and paper wrappers. In both cases the collation was the same—pp. viii+120. The issue in boards was bound in olive cloth, with a reproduction of the cover design of the first edition impressed in red on the front and back, and it had no frontispiece. In the paper issue the illustration that formed the frontispiece of the first edition was reproduced on the front wrapper. Before the title-page a leaf of advertisements appears in both issues, and at the end a List of Books published by Chatto and Windus is bound in, consisting of 32 pages, and dated January 1886 in some copies, and March 1886 in others. The price of the cloth copies was one shilling and sixpence, and of the paper copies one shilling. When this edition was exhausted, no reprint was made. The current edition at six shillings is still printed from the stereo plates of 1883.

THE SEA FOGS: 1907.

The Sea Fogs | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | With an Introduction by | Thomas Rutherford Bacon | The Photogravure | Frontispiece after a painting | by | Albertine Randall Wheelan | [Ornament] | Paul Elder and Company | San Francisco and New York | [1907].

Collation:—Sixteenmo, pp. iv+xx+26, consisting of Half-title, Western Classics | No. One | The Sea Fogs | pp. [1, 2], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [3, 4], in centre of verso copyright notice. Introduction, pp. i-xvi; pp. [xvii, xviii] blank; Fly-title, The Sea Fogs, pp. [xix, xx], verso blank; Text, pp. 1-24, p. [25] blank; p. [26] colophon of the Tomoye Press.

Issued in dark grey boards, vellum paper back, uncut.

This is a chapter from The Silverado Squatters, first published in 1883, now separately printed for the first time.

TREASURE ISLAND: 1883.

Treasure Island. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | [Ornamental line.] Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris & New York. | [All Rights Reserved.] | 1883.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii + 292, consisting of Half-title, Treasure Island, on verso a list of books 'By the same Author,' enclosed within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; 'Facsimile of Chart,' inset, to face title; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; Dedication to 'S. L. O., an American Gentleman' [Samuel Lloyd Osbourne], p. [v]; Verses, 'To the Hesitating Purchaser,' two eight-line stanzas, p. [vi]; Contents, pp. [vii], viii; Text, pp. [1]-292. At foot of p. 292 is the imprint, 'Cassell and Company, Limited, Belle Sauvage Works, London, E.C.' At the end four pages of 'Selections from Cassell and Company's Publications' are stitched. These vary in different copies of the book.

Issued in silk-grained cloth boards of different colours, some copies being in sage-green and others in crimson. According to Mr. Slater ('Early Editions,' p. 273), the book was issued in blue cloth, lettered in gold on the face. The ordinary copies are lettered in gold on the back, 'Treasure | Island | R. L. Stevenson | Cassell & Company, Limited.'

The history of Treasure Island—the finest tale of maritime adventure that has been told since Defoe produced his great romance—has been narrated by Stevenson himself in the paper which he wrote under the title of My First Book in The Idler for August 1894. Interesting additions were made to that history by Mr. Robert Leighton, Dr. Alexander H. Japp, and Mr. James Henderson, in The Academy (No. 1452, March 3, 1900; No. 1453, March 10, 1900; and No. 1454, March 17, 1900). Begun at Castleton of Braemar in the summer of 1881, with the object of relieving the tedium of a schoolboy—prompted by the rough sketch of an island-map—it was finished the following winter among the pinewoods of Davos. But some months previously, Dr. Japp, who had been on a visit to the Stevensons at Braemar, had carried away with him half of 'The Sea Cook,' as the story was originally called, and had offered it to Mr. James Henderson, the editor and proprietor of Young Folks. Mr. Henderson altered the title to Treasure Island, and the first instalment of the story was published on October 1, 1881, as the work of Captain George North. It was illustrated by a rude woodcut representing Billy Bones chasing Black Dog out of 'The Admiral Benbow.' The remainder of the story ran serially through Young Folks, until January 28, 1882 (Part IV. No. 64), but no further instalment received the honour of an illustration. A few alterations were made in preparing Treasure Island for publication in book form, but in only one instance was a chapter heading altered—'At the Sign of the "Spy Glass"' (Chapter viii.) being substituted for 'The Sea Cook.' The latter name was, however, still retained as the title of Part II.

It is stated on good authority that Treasure Island, which met with great success in its completed form, was a comparative failure as a serial. The Black Arrow, which was the next work of Stevenson's to be published in Young Folks, was far more popular.

In the original edition of Treasure Island, as well as in some others, the first line of the buccaneer song is printed with a deficiency of capitals :—

'Fifteen men on the dead man's chest—
Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!
Drink and the devil had done for the rest—
Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!'

The Dead Man's Chest was an islet in the Caribbean Sea, formerly much frequented by pirates, and Stevenson tells us that he first got the name, with all its weird suggestiveness, from Kingsley's At Last.

First Illustrated Edition: 1885.

Treasure Island. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | [Vignette of a ship in a southern harbour.] | Illustrated Edition. | Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris, New York & Melbourne. | 1885. | [All rights reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+292, consisting of Half-title, Treasure Island, p. [i]; List of Publications By the Same Author, within a one-line border, p. [ii]; Map, facing Illustrated Title-page (not included in the pagination); Title-page as above, p. [iii]; To the Hesitating Purchaser, p. [iv]; Dedication 'To S. L. O.,' p. [v]; List of Illustrations, p. [vi]; Contents, pp. [vii], viii; Text of Treasure Island, pp. [1]-292. At the foot of p. 292 is the imprint, 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C. | 20.8.85.' Bound in at the end is an advertisement of King Solomon's Mines, one unnumbered leaf, followed by Selections from Cassell & Company's Publications, 8 unnumbered leaves.

Issued in red cloth boards, with uncut edges, and lettered on front, Treasure | Island | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | Illustrated | with a fancy design of a compass, all in black, and on back, Treasure | Island | Stevenson | in gold, and Illustrated, with a design of a ship in full sail, in black.

Published in November 1885 at the price of six shillings.

The author was much pleased with this edition, and in a letter to his father, dated October 28, 1885, wrote:—'An illustrated Treasure Island will be out next month. I have had an early copy, and the French pictures are admirable. The artist has got his types up in Hogarth; he is full of fire and spirit, can draw and can compose, and has understood the book as I meant it, all but one or two little accidents, such as making the Hispaniola a brig.' The illustrations are by various artists and engravers.

Fourteen years later another illustrated edition was produced.

Second Illustrated Edition: 1899.

Issued in dark blue cloth, top gilt, edges uncut, lettered on front, 'Treasure Island | R. L. Stevenson' | below which are an illustration of a ship, and three kneeling figures; on the back, 'Treasure | Island | R. L. | Stevenson' | (here are two characters from the story), 'Cassell & Co., Limited,' all in gold.

Published in November 1899 at the price of six shillings. Reprinted, with the wording on the title-page spaced differently, in 1901 and 1902.

Not a year has passed since its publication that a fresh impression of Treasure Island has not been called for. The price of the five shilling edition was reduced to three shillings and sixpence in July 1891, and it is now out of print, only the illustrated editions being on sale. Of these there are three issues, the 'Library Edition' at six shillings a volume, the 'Popular Edition' at three shillings and sixpence, and a 'People's Edition' at sixpence in pictorial paper covers.

PRINCE OTTO: 1885.

Prince Otto | A Romance | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | London | Chatto & Windus, Piccadilly | 1885 | [The right of translation is reserved].

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii + 300, consisting of Half-title, Prince Otto, on verso List of Books 'By the same Author,' within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above, in centre of verso the imprint, 'Printed by | Spottiswoode and Co., New Street Square | London'; pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication, 'To Nelly Van de Grift (Mrs. Adulfo Sanchez, of Monterey),' dated from 'Skerryvore, Bournemouth,' pp. [v], vi; Contents, pp. [vii], viii; Text, pp. [1]-300. There are fly-titles before the different 'Books' into which the work is divided, viz. 'Prince Errant,' p. [1]; 'Of Love and Politics,' p. [61]; and 'Fortunate Misfortune,' p. [237]. Pp. [2], [60], [62], and [238] are blank. The imprint is repeated at foot of p. 300. At the end is stitched in 'Chatto & Windus's List of Books,' dated April 1885, 32 pp.

Issued in sage-green cloth, flowered all over in chocolate-colour, and lettered in gold over the pattern on the back, 'Prince Otto | Robert Louis | Stevenson | Chatto & Windus.'

The second edition was also issued by Chatto & Windus in 1885.

Prince Otto: A Romance, was originally published in Longman's Magazine, vol. v. pp. 641-660; vol. vi. pp. 99-112, 203-224, 316-336, 424-448, 540-560, 648-666 (April-October, 1885). The story was built on the ruins of a cast-off tragedy called Semiramis, and was planned, as Mr.

Colvin says, in a spirit of romantic comedy while Stevenson was living in San Francisco at the end of 1879 or the beginning of 1880. The original title was The Forest State or The Greenwood State, and an analysis of it was given by the author in a letter to Mr. Henley, written in February 1880 (Letters, i. 167-168). The work was continued at Hyères, when the author fixed on the title of Prince Otto, and was finished by the end of 1884, but was not published in book form till November 1885. Perhaps on no product of his genius did Stevenson bestow more criticism than upon Prince Otto. 'It is queer, and a little, little bit free; and some of the parties are immoral; and the whole thing is not a romance, nor yet a comedy; nor yet a romantic comedy; but a kind of preparation of some of the elements of all three in a glass jar' (Letters, i. 270).

In 1886 an edition of Prince Otto was issued in picture boards, at the price of two shillings, which continued to be sold for some years, but is now out of print. In 1900 the six shilling edition was re-set, and printed as a new edition.

Mr. John Lane, in 1896, published a French translation of Prince Otto, of which a collation is given below.

French Translation: 1896.

R. L. | Stevenson | Le Roman | Du | Prince Othon | Traduit de L'Anglais | par | Egerton | Castle | London | John Lane The Bodley Head | 1896.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. xx+312, consisting of leaf of Advertisements, recto blank, and Half-title, verso blank, not reckoned in the pagination; p. [i] blank; etched Frontispiece by D. Y. Cameron, p. [ii]; etched Title, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; Dédicace du Traducteur, pp. v-xv; Dédicace de L'Auteur, pp. xvi-xviii; Table, pp. xix, xx; Fly-title, pp. [1, 2], verso blank; Text, pp. 3-[312]; at foot of last page the imprint, 'Printed by T. and A. Constable, Printers to Her Majesty | at the Edinburgh University Press.'

Issued in dark blue cloth, top edge gilt, others untrimmed, lettered on face within a fancy-work scroll 'R. L. | Stevenson | Prince | Othon,' and on back, 'R. L. Stevenson | Le Roman | Du | Prince | Othon | Traduit par | Egerton | Castle | John Lane | The | Bodley Head,' all in gold.

An edition in demy octavo, printed on handmade paper, and bound in uniform style with 'The Edinburgh Edition,' was issued at the same time. This edition consisted of 50 copies only.

Prince Otto, a comedy in three acts, dramatised by T. B. Thalberg and Gerald Gurney, was produced first at the Spa Concert Room, Harrogate, on Saturday afternoon, March 24, 1888. On this occasion Mr. Stephen Phillips took the part of Fritz. In The Academy, No. 1463, May 19, 1900, a letter from Mr. Stevenson to Mr. Gurney, who had written respecting terms, was printed, in which the author of Prince Otto expressed his gratification at the proposal that the romance should be dramatised, and added the following postscript:—'It may interest you to know that Prince Otto was originally a tragedy, and, by my sooth! in blank verse. I still think it has much that is very suitable to the boards.' A facsimile of this letter is also given in the announcement of a representation of 'Prince Otto,' which was given at the Theatre Royal, Glasgow, June 4, 1900, and five following nights, in which Miss Marion Terry personated the heroine.

It was in the summer of 1881, when Stevenson was living in Castleton of Braemar, that he first began to write his verses for children. Mr. Graham Balfour tells us how he once took up Miss Kate Greenaway's Birthday Book for Children, with verses by Mrs. Sale Barker, and said, 'These are rather nice rhymes, and I don't think they will be difficult to do,' and then proceeded to try his hand at them. About fourteen numbers seem to have been written in the Highlands, and after three more had been added, they were apparently discontinued for a time (Life, i. 192). Gradually increasing the number of these verses, he was able to announce in March 1883, in a letter written from Nice to Mr. Henley, that they amounted to forty-eight pieces and 599 lines, which he proposed should be published with full-page illustrations in a 'refined octavo volume.' The title that first came into his mind was Nursery Verses, but after turning this and a few other alternative ones over, he came to the conclusion that Penny Whistles was the best, though he afterwards declared that he did not care for it.

The proofs of Penny Whistles were distributed in the autumn of 1883 amongst friends and relatives, and out of this number only two copies, one in America and the other in England, can be traced. It is a twelvemo of 22 pages, without a title-page, the dropped heading 'Penny Whistles' being at the top of page 1, with the text of 'Bed in Summer' immediately beneath. At the foot of page 22 is the imprint, 'Cambridge, printed by C. J. Clay, M.A., and Son, at the University Press.' Two proofs of the verses were taken, and whether this was the first or second is uncertain. In the American copy there are forty-eight pieces, containing 603 lines. Of these forty-eight pieces nine entire poems were not reprinted in A Child's Garden of Verses, and others were altered. The writer is indebted to Mr. George M. Williamson's Catalogue of a Collection of the Books of Robert Louis Stevenson for the following interesting information. The poems not reprinted were the following:—

VI. 'Bull Hunt,' 4 lines.
XXI. 'The Hunt Interrupted,' 4 lines.
XXII. 'The Garden Door,' 8 lines.
XXIII. 'A Song of Days,' 8 lines.
XXXII. 'Lesson on the Sea,' 20 lines.
XXXVI. 'A Proper Pride,' 6 lines.
XXXVIII. 'Birthday Party,' 6 lines.
XLI. 'Little Boy Blue,' 20 lines.
XLVI. 'Good News,' 8 lines.

No. XI., 'Travel,' in Penny Whistles has only 8 lines, while in A Child's Garden it contains 46. Lines 3 and 4 of the third stanza of No. IV., 'Young Night Thought,' was re-written, as was line 2 of No. IX.,

'Foreign Lands.' No. XXV., 'A Good Boy,' in Penny Whistles contains 8 stanzas, the third, fourth, and fifth of which have been struck out in the published volume. The penultimate line of No. XXXIII., 'Keepsake Mill,' was re-written, as was the last line of No. XLIII., 'The Moon.' Minor alterations, a word or two here or there, are found in several of the other pieces.

When the book was published in March 1885, under the title of A Child's Garden of Verses, it contained 64 poems, the remainder having been written at various times in 1884. In February 1892 Messrs. Longman printed A Child's Garland | of Songs | Gathered from | 'A Child's Garden of Verses,' | By Robert Louis Stevenson | And Set to Music | by | C. Villiers Stanford, and in 1897 there was also published in quarto, with illustrations, Song Flowers from 'A Child's Garden of Verses,' with Music by Katharine M. Ramsay.

Issued in dark green ribbed silk-cloth, with ornamental designs in gold on back and sides.

The American Edition is dated 1895 and contains a frontispiece portrait of Stevenson. It was issued in red and green cloth.

An edition was also printed on Japanese vellum, with this Certificate of Issue on p. [vi]:—Of this Large Paper Edition 150 copies | have been printed for England | and 100 copies for America. These copies were bound in uniform style with the Edinburgh Edition of The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, with the cloth covers of the ordinary edition employed as end-leaves.

Verses | by | R. L. S. | Privately printed | 1912.

Collation:—Octavo, pp. iv+12, consisting of Half-title, Verses, pp. [i, ii], on verso the device of The De Vinne Press; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], on verso Note, signed L. S. L. Text, pp. 1-11; p. [12] is blank.

Issued in blue paper wrappers, uncut, the front cover lettered in black, 'Verses.'

The Note reads as follows:—'The pieces reprinted in the following pages formed a part of the little trial book, "Penny Whistles" printed in 1883. They were not included in the volume 'A Child's Garden of Verses' issued in 1885, and have, I believe, never been published. December 1912. L. S. L.'

One hundred copies were privately printed at the De Vinne Press for presentation.

The titles of the poems are given on the preceding page.

THE DYNAMITER: 1885.

More New Arabian Nights | The Dynamiter | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | and | Fanny Van de Grift Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | London | Longmans, Green, and Co. | 1885 | All rights reserved.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+208, consisting of Half-title, The Dynamiter, on verso a list of works 'By R. L. Stevenson,' within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above (with imprint—'London: Printed by | Spottiswoode and Co., New-street Square | and Parliament Street'—in centre of verso), pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication, 'To Messrs. Cole and Cox, Police Officers,' pp. [v], vi; Contents, p. [vii]; A Note for the Reader (signed 'R. L. S.'), p. [viii]; Text, pp. 1-207; p. [208] blank. There are headlines throughout, each verso being headed New Arabian Nights, and each recto with the name of the chapter occupying it. The imprint is repeated at the foot of p. 207.

Issued in pale-green paper wrappers, lettered on the front:—'More New Arabian Nights | The | Dynamiter | By | R. L. & F. | Stevenson | London | Longmans, Green & Co. | Price One Shilling.' On the back wrapper is the following advertisement: 'A New Story by William Black, WHITE HEATHER, and a New Romance by Robert Louis Stevenson, PRINCE OTTO, are now appearing in Longman's Magazine.'

A few copies were issued in crimson cloth boards, with trimmed edges, and lettered on the front in black: 'More | New Arabian Nights | [ornament] | The | Dynamiter | [Publishers' device] | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | and | Fanny Van de Grift Stevenson.'

The Dynamiter was published in April 1885, and was reprinted in May and July of that year.

The stories in More New Arabian Nights chiefly consisted of those composed by Mrs. Stevenson at Hyères in 1883-84. 'Stevenson wrote the passages relating to Prince Florizel and collaborated in the remainder; but the only complete story of his invention in the book was The Explosive Bomb; by which he designed "to make dynamite ridiculous, if he could not make it horrible"' (Balfour's Life, ii. 4, 5). Mrs. Stevenson was entirely responsible for the stories of The Destroying Angel and The Fair Cuban.

STRANGE CASE OF DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE: 1886.

Strange Case | of | Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Publishers' device.] | London | Longmans, Green, and Co. | 1886 | All rights reserved.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii + 144. Half-title, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, on verso, list of books 'By the Same Author,' within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above; in centre of verso the imprint: 'Printed by | Spottiswoode and Co., New-street Square | London,' pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication, 'To Katherine de Mattos,' four lines of verse, verso blank, pp. [v, vi]; Contents, verso blank, pp. [vii, viii]; Text, pp. [1]-141; p. [142] blank; Advertisement of the second edition of 'A Child's Garden of Verses,' with Press Notices, p. [143]; p. [144] blank. Imprint at the foot of p. 141.

Issued in salmon-coloured cloth, with trimmed edges, lettered in black upon the front cover 'Strange Case | of | Dr. Jekyll | and | Mr. Hyde | By | R. L. Stevenson,' with 'the Sign of the Ship' in the left-hand upper corner.

Also issued in fawn-coloured paper wrappers, ornamented in blue, and lettered in red and blue on the recto of the front cover: Strange Case | of | Dr Jekyll | and | Mr Hyde. | By | R. L. Stevenson | [Publishers' device] | London | Longmans, Green, and Co. | 1886 | Price One Shilling; advertisement of Longman's Magazine on verso. The back cover has upon its recto an advertisement of Whyte Melville's novels; and upon its verso advertisements of The Dynamiters, and two books by Bret Harte.

The date upon the front cover was originally 1885, but the last figure was altered by the pen into 6. It had been intended to publish the book in December 1885, 'but when it was ready the bookstalls were already full of Christmas numbers, etc., and the trade would not look at it' (Mr. Charles Longman in Balfour's Life, ii. 14). The publication was therefore postponed till January 1886.

Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, issued an edition dated 1886. The copy which Stevenson sent to W. E. Henley is dated January 30, 1886, with the following inscription :—

W. E. H. from R. L. S.

Dramatic Jekyll and dramatic Hyde,
(But which is which let other men decide.)
To the two friends their work at least is fun,
And being never played gives pair to none.

In 1904 Scott-Thaw Company of New York issued an edition in Japanese vellum of 150 copies, illustrated by Charles Raymond Macauley.

In 1896 Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde was republished, together with Fables, in one volume (Part I. No. 43).

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, a play in four acts, dramatised by T. Russell Sullivan, was produced at the Lyceum Theatre, August 4, 1888, and, dramatised by Daniel Bandmann, at the Opera Comique, August 6, 1888.

The Real Case of Hyde and Jekyll, a musical farce, written and composed by George Grossmith, was produced at the Royalty Theatre, September 3, 1888.

In 1890 the Pinckney Publishing Company, Boston, published The Untold Sequel of The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, a small octavo, pp. 44, in paper wrappers. Although it sold in Mrs. Strong's sale for $25, there is no evidence that Stevenson was the author.

In the Harry Elkins Widener Collection is an early issue, a proof copy in sheets, given by Stevenson to Adelaide Boodle, his 'Game Keeper.' The title is identical with the published edition, but the text and make-up differ.

Pp. xx+140, consisting of Half-title, verso blank, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page, with imprint on verso, 'Printed by R. & R. Clark, Edinburgh,' pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication, pp. [v]-vii; p. [viii] is blank; Note, pp. [ix]-xii; Table of Common Scottish Vowel Sounds, pp. [xiii, xiv]; Contents, pp. [xv]-xvii; p. [xviii] is blank; Fly-title, pp. [xix, xx], verso blank; Text, pp. [1]-73; p. [74] is blank; Fly-title to Book II. pp. [75, 76], verso blank; Text, pp. [77]-[138]; pp. [139, 140] are blank.

The signature b is at the foot of p. [v].

The spelling and spacing differ in many places, and the poem 'To N. V. de G. S.' has ten lines additional at the end.

A large paper edition was issued in quarto, handmade paper, uncut, and bound in white buckram, with the title, etc., impressed in gold on the back. On the verso of the half-title is the Certificate of Issue, 'Only Fifty Copies of this Large Paper Edition | of "Underwoods" have been printed. | This is No. . . . | [signed] R. & R. Clark.'

A Lowden Sabbath Morn: 1898.

A Lowden Sabbath Morn | By Robert Louis Stevenson | Illustrated by A. S. Boyd | London | Chatto & Windus | 1898.

Collation:—Square octavo, pp. 126, consisting of Half-title, p. [1, 2], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [3, 4]; at foot of verso the imprint, 'Printed by Ballantyne, Hanson & Co. | At the Ballantyne Press'; Dedication, 'To | the Memory of | Robert Louis Stevenson | etc.,' pp. [5, 6], verso blank; Text and plates, pp. 7-124; though the illustrations do not bear pagination figures they run concurrently with the text, thus the last page being a picture is unnumbered, p. [125]; p. [126] blank; at the end is a leaf with a List of Works by Robert Louis Stevenson, on the verso of which is the imprint, 'Printed by Ballantyne, Hanson & Co. | London & Edinburgh.'

Issued in dark blue cloth boards, the top edges gilt, other edges uncut.

TICONDEROGA: 1887.

Ticonderoga | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | Printed for the Author by R. & R. Clark | Edinburgh | 1887.

Collation:—Post quarto, pp. 28, consisting of Half-title, pp. [1, 2]. verso blank; Certificate of Issue, stating that Fifty Copies only had been printed, pp. [3, 4], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [5, 6], verso blank; Prologue, pp. [7, 8], verso blank; Text, pp. [9]-27. The imprint, 'Printed by R. & R. Clark, Edinburgh,' occurs upon p. [28]. The headline is Ticonderoga throughout, upon both sides of the page.

Issued in cream-coloured Japanese vellum paper boards, lettered in gold up the back, 'Ticonderoga. R. L. Stevenson. 1887.'

Also printed in Scribner's Magazine for December 1887, pp. 643-650, where the poem was accompanied by two illustrations by William Hole, A.R.S.A., and one by Will H. Low.

Reprinted in Ballads, 1890, pp. 97-119.

When Ticonderoga was printed in 1887 it was originally set up by R. & R. Clark on a foolscap quarto, and the number was intended to be twenty-five. Three advance copies were struck off on this size, upon Whatman paper, with the certificate of issue reading, 'Only twenty-five copies of this book have been printed.' The size of leaf measures $8\frac{5}{8}$ by $6\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

The regular issue is post quarto, and the certificate reads 'fifty copies'; of these three are on vellum and have no certificate of issue, but begin with a blank leaf. About a third of the edition was sent to the author.

Presentation Edition: 1889.

Previous to its publication in 1890 Ticonderoga was set up in type by the De Vinne Press of New York, acting upon Mr. Stevenson's instructions. Two copies only were printed. One was forwarded to the author in Samoa, who presented it to King Kalakaua.

The booklet is a square octavo of eight leaves; the first and last being unnumbered, the remaining twelve pages, which contain the poem, being numbered 1 to 12 at foot. There are no headlines. The first leaf has the following brief title upon its recto (the verso being blank): 'Privately Printed | for his Hawaiin Majesty | King Kalakaua. | From the Author.'

The recto of the last leaf contains the series of four Notes, the verso being blank. There is no imprint either of printer or publishers. The pamphlet is sewn with red silk, and has no wrapper or cover of any description.

In the matter of Text this 'presentation' issue of Ticonderoga affords some interesting variorum readings, as follows:—

Line 67, ordinary editions, reads:—

By the bread of life and the steel of war.

The 'presentation' issue gives:—

By my sword and yonder mountain.

Lines 205-212, ordinary editions, read:—

'Many a name have I heard,' he thought,
'In all the tongues of men,
Full many a name both here and there,
Full many both now and then.

When I was at home in my father's house
In the land of the naked knee,
Between the eagles that fly in the lift
And the herrings that swim in the sea.'

In the 'presentation' issue they run:—

'Many a name have I heard
In all the tongues of men,
Many both here and there,
Many both now and then:
At home in my father's house,
In the land of the naked knee,
Where the eagles fly in the lift,
*And the herrings swim in the sea.'

There are in addition three or four trifling verbal differences.

MEMOIR OF FLEEMING JENKIN: 1887.

Memoir | of | Fleeming Jenkin | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | New York | Charles Scribner's Sons | 1887.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii + 302, consisting of Half-title, Memoir of Fleeming Jenkin | [Author's Edition], on verso, list of works 'By the same Author,' pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above, verso blank, pp. [iii, iv]; Preface to the American Edition, signed 'R. L. S.,' and dated, 'Saranac, Oct. 1887,' pp. [v], vi; Contents, pp. vii, viii; Text of Memoir, pp. [1]-275; p. [276] blank; Appendix, pp. [277]-302, followed by Advertisements of Mr. Stevenson's Works, pp. 4, and of other books published by Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, pp. 4. There is no imprint.

Issued in crimson cloth boards with trimmed edges and lettered in gold on back, 'Fleeming | Jenkin | Robert | Louis | Stevenson | Scribners'. The published price was one dollar.

This edition contains the following Preface:—

'On the death of Fleeming Jenkin, his family and friends determined to publish a selection of his various papers; by way of introduction, the following pages were drawn up; and the whole, forming two considerable volumes, has been issued in England. In the States, it has not been thought advisable to reproduce the whole; and the memoir appearing alone, shorn of that other matter which was at once its occasion and its justification, so large an account of a man so little known may seem to a stranger out of all proportion. But Jenkin was a man much more remarkable than the mere bulk or merit of his work approves him. It was in the world, in the commerce of friendship, by his brave attitude towards life, by his high moral value and unwearied intellectual effort, that he struck the minds of his contemporaries. His was an individual figure, such as authors delight to draw, and all men to read of, in the pages of a novel. His was a face worth painting for its own sake. If the sitter shall not seem to have justified the portrait, if Jenkin, after his death, shall not continue to make new friends, the fault will be altogether mine.

'Saranac, Oct. 1887. R. L. S.

There is one copy entirely uncut, without the advertisements at the end, bound in stiff grey boards, without lettering.

First Separate English Edition: 1912.

THE MASTER OF BALLANTRAE: 1888.

The Master of Ballantrae | by | Robert Louis Stevenson | Author's Edition | 1888 | [All rights reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. ii+164, consisting of Title-page as above, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Text, pp. [1]-164.

Issued in buff-coloured wrappers, cut, with title on front cover, and on back cover, advertisement, 'By the same Author.'

In a letter from the publishers, Messrs. Charles Scribner, it is stated that only ten copies of this advance edition were printed, and one of them was afterwards destroyed. The edition varies from the book as finally issued in many places, containing, besides other differences, only five of the twelve chapters which make up the published edition issued in 1889.

The Master of Ballantrae was begun at Saranac in the Adirondacks in December 1887. The story of its inception is told in The Genesis of the Master of Ballantrae, which was first published in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Miscellanies, vol. iv. pp. 297-302. The book was finished at Honolulu in May 1888, when Stevenson was in rather unwilling mood for writing, and, in consequence, the climax was worked out in an unsatisfactory manner.

First Published Edition: 1889.

The | Master of Ballantrae. | A Winter's Tale. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson, | Author of 'Kidnapped,' 'Treasure Island,' | &c. &c. &c. | Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris, New York & Melbourne, | 1889. | [All rights reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+332, consisting of Half-title, The Master of Ballantrae, verso blank, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above (with the publishers' device in centre of verso), pp.

[iii, iv]; Dedication to Sir Percy Florence and Lady Shelley, signed 'R. L. S.,' and dated 'Waikiki, May 17, 1889,' verso blank, pp. [v, vi]; Contents, pp. [vii], viii; and Text, pp. [1]-332. On the verso of the front end-leaf, preceding the half-title, there is a brief list of Messrs. Cassell & Co.'s publications, enclosed within a plain one-line border. There are headlines throughout. The imprint: 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C.' occurs at the foot of page 332, which is followed by advertisements of Messrs. Cassell & Co.'s publications, pp. 4 on thick paper, and pp. 16 on thin.

Issued in red cloth boards, uncut, lettered in gold, 'The Master | of | Ballantrae | Stevenson' across the back, and 'The Master | of | Ballantrae | By | Robert Louis Stevenson' in black upon the front cover. The boards are further ornamented with figures, crossed swords, etc.

The Master of Ballantrae was published in book form in August 1889 at the price of five shillings. It has been several times reprinted, and is now sold in three forms, the 'Library Edition' at six shillings, the 'Popular Edition' at three shillings and sixpence, and, since 1899, the 'People's Edition' in pictorial paper wrappers at sixpence. There is also a Special Annotated Edition for the use of students at one shilling and sixpence.

The Master of Ballantrae was first published serially in Scribner's Magazine, with illustrations by William Hole, vol. iv. pp. 570, 697; vol. v. pp. 49, 152, 278, 413, 624, 749; vol. vi. pp. 93, 145, 351, 407 (Nov. 1888 to Oct. 1889).

In July 1898 the original Preface to The Master of Ballantrae, which had been first published in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Appendix, 1898, pp. 48-51, was prefixed to Messrs Cassell and Company's editions of the book, of which it now forms a part.

THE WRONG BOX: 1889.

The | Wrong Box | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | Author of 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' &c. | and | Lloyd Osbourne | London | Longmans, Green, and Co. | 1889 | All rights reserved.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. iv+284, consisting of Title-page as above, on verso a list of 'Works by Robert Louis Stevenson,' enclosed within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Preface, p. [iii]; Contents, p. [iv]; Text, pp. [1]-283; with imprint, 'Printed by | Spottiswoode and Co., New-street Square | London,' at foot of p. 283; p. [284] blank, followed by 'General Lists of Works published by Messrs. Longmans,' pp. 16. There are headlines throughout.

Issued in red cloth boards, uncut, lettered in gold on back, 'The | Wrong | Box | R. L. Stevenson | and | Lloyd Osbourne | Longmans & Co.'

The copy given by Stevenson to Charles Baxter, dated June 17, 1889, shows by comparison a variation, on p. [iv]. The heading 'Contents' is printed from the same fount of type as the heading 'The Wrong Box' on the opposite page, each having the same ornament beneath. The two preliminary leaves, pp. [i-iv], forming signature A were evidently reprinted, the heading 'Contents' being in smaller type and without the ornament.

In other respects they are the same.

The Wrong Box was first published in June 1889.

This story was begun by Mr. Lloyd Osbourne at Saranac Lake in October 1887—'From the next room, the bell of Lloyd's typewriter makes an agreeable music as it patters off (at a rate which astonishes this experienced novelist) the early chapters of a humorous romance' (Letters, ii. 72). 'The Port Admiral is using a game of put in a tale of his, the first copy of which was gloriously finished about a fortnight ago, and the revise gallantly begun: The Finsbury Tontine it is named, and might fill two volumes, and is quite incredibly silly, and in parts (it seems to me) pretty humorous' (To W. E. Henley, December 1887, Letters, ii. 79). 'The lad? Well, the lad wrote a tale this winter, which appeared to me so funny that I have taken it in hand, and some of these days you will receive a copy of a work entitled "A Game of Bluff, by Lloyd Osbourne and Robert Louis Stevenson"' (To Miss Ferrier, April 1888, Letters, ii. 102). In January 1889 the story was again re-christened The Wrong Box, and it was finished by March—not without much toil and trouble, and as Mr. Lloyd Osbourne confesses, it still seemed to retain a sense of failure. It never had the success of The Wrecker, another work which Stevenson undertook in collaboration with his stepson.

THE SOUTH SEAS: 1890.

Privately Printed Issue.

The South Seas: | A Record of Three Cruises. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris & Melbourne. | 1890. | [All rights reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. iv+124, consisting of Title-page as above, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Contents, pp. [iii, iv]; Text, pp. 1-123; p. [124] blank. There are headlines throughout, The South Seas upon each verso, while each recto is headed with the title of the chapter occupying it.

Issued in bright red cloth boards, lettered 'The South Seas | Robert Louis Stevenson' in gold upon the front. One copy is in paper wrappers of the conventional leaf design on grey.

Twenty-two (22) copies only of this book were printed in November 1890, as 'copy' for Syndicate use. Of this short number fifteen were cut up for serial purposes.

IN THE SOUTH SEAS: 1896.

First Published Edition.

In the South Seas | being | an Account of Experiences | and Observations in the Marquesas, | Paumotus and Gilbert Islands in the Course of | two Cruises in the Yacht 'Casco' (1888) | and the Schooner 'Equator' | (1889) | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | New York | Charles Scribner's Sons | 1896.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. x+370, consisting of Half-title, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], on verso, 'Copyright, 1891, by | S. S. M'Clure. | Copyright, 1892-1896, by | Charles Scribner's Sons'; Editorial Note, pp. v, vi; A Map of the South Sea Islands; Contents, pp. vii, viii; Fly-title, pp. [ix, x], verso blank; Text, pp. 1-370.

Issued in red cloth boards, back lettered in gold: 'The | South | Seas | Robert | Louis | Stevenson | Scribners.'

This is the first published edition in book form of 'South Sea' letters. The privately printed issue consisted of the first fifteen only of the thirty-five letters. They had been orginally printed in full in the New York Sun during 1891, and partially in Black and White between February and December of that year (Part IV. No. 113). In 1892 an edition of these letters was contemplated in The English Library (Leipzig: Heinemann and Balestier), and was advertised under the title of 'Letters from the South Seas. By R. L. Stevenson, Author of "Treasure Island," "The Master of Ballantrae," etc.,' but the project was never carried out. The first public issue in England was in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Travels and Excursions, vol. iii., 1896, and the letters were not actually published in separate form until the issue of the volume by Messrs. Chatto and Windus, 1900.

THE WRECKER: 1892.

The Wrecker. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | and | Lloyd Osbourne. | Illustrated by William Hole and W. L. Metcalf. | Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris, & Melbourne. | 1892. | [All Rights Reserved.]

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii+428, consisting of Half-title, The Wrecker, verso blank, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as

The imprint, 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C.,' is at foot of p. 427.

Issued in blue cloth boards, top edges cut, others untrimmed, and lettered in gold on back: 'The | Wrecker | R. L. Stevenson | and | Lloyd Osbourne | Cassell & Company | Limited.'

Published in July 1892, at the price of six shillings. It has several times been reprinted, and the editions now in print consist of the 'Library Edition' at six shillings, the 'Popular Edition' at three shillings and sixpence, and the 'People's Edition' in pictorial paper covers at sixpence.

The Wrecker was originally issued serially, with illustrations by William Hole and W. L. Metcalf, in Scribner's Magazine, vols. x., xi., and xii., (August 1891 to July 1892).

The Wrecker was one of the 'South Sea Yarns' which Stevenson planned in collaboration with his stepson, Mr. Lloyd Osbourne, when living at 'Equator Town,' in Apemama, in the autumn of 1889. Like others of Stevenson's stories, it had a foundation in fact. 'One moonlight night, in the neighbourhood of Johnstone Island, the talk fell upon the strange history of the loss of the brigantine, Wandering Minstrel, and from this germ was quickly developed the plot of The Wrecker' (Life, ii. 75). Mr. Graham Balfour notes that the first chapters were drawn, 'partly in detail and wholly in spirit,' from Stevenson's recollections of the days he spent in France—and especially in Paris—in 1873-76. One experience—crystallised in the story of Stennis aîné and Stennis frère—was transferred bodily to the pages of The Wrecker. A Californian friendship made with Mr. Charles Warren Stoddard, author of Summer Cruising in the South Seas, was commemorated in the chapter entitled, 'Faces on the City Front,' where the writer meets 'a youngish, good-looking fellow, prematurely bald, and with an expression both lively and engaging.' In his talks with Mr. Stoddard, Stevenson first 'fell under the spell of the islands,' and from one of his first meetings with him walked away with Omoo under one arm, and his friend's own adventures under the other.

The Paris and Barbizon scenes were entirely written by Stevenson, but the Californian and subsequent chapters were cast in the rough by Mr. Lloyd Osbourne, and revised by his stepfather. The method of collaboration employed by the two writers was set forth by R. L. S. in a letter to his cousin, R. A. M. Stevenson (Letters, ii. 359, 360), and in some detail by Mr. Lloyd Osbourne in Mr. Balfour's Life, ii. 33, 34. The storm in the twelfth chapter was wholly the work of Mr. Osbourne, and Stevenson testified that he 'had the best service from him on the character of Nares,' who was drawn from Captain Otis, the commander of the schooner Casco. Another South Sea acquaintance, John Buckland, generally known as 'Tin Jack,' sat for the portrait of Tommy Hadden. The Wrecker, after many throes and perilous adventures, was at last finished at Vailima in the autumn of 1891.

ISLAND NIGHTS' ENTERTAINMENTS: 1893.

Island Nights' | Entertainments | consisting of | The Beach of Falesá | The Bottle Imp | The Isle of Voices | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | with illustrations by | Gordon Browne and W. Hatherell | Cassell & Company Limited | London, Paris & Melbourne | 1893 | [All Rights Reserved].

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. xii+280, consisting of a leaf with blank recto, and in centre of verso a list of some 'Works by R. L. Stevenson' published by Cassell and Company, enclosed within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Half-title, Island Nights' | Entertainments, with picture of Uma on verso, pp. [iii, iv]; Title-page, verso blank, pp. [v, vi]; Dedication 'To Three Old Shipmates among the Islands, Harry Henderson, Ben Hird, Jack Buckland,' verso blank, pp. [vii, viii]; List of Illustrations, pp. [ix], x; Fly-title to The Beach of Falesá, verso blank, pp. [xi, xii]; Text, pp. [1]-277, pp. [278-280] blank, including fly-titles to The Bottle Imp and The Isle of Voices and illustrations. There are headlines throughout. The imprint, 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C.' is at the foot of p. 277. Following p. xii is a 'Sketch-Map of the Beach and Neighbouring Country.' Advertisements at end, pp. 16.

Issued in cloth boards of various colours, lettered in gold across the back: 'Island | Nights' | Entertainments | R. L. | Stevenson | Cassell & Company | Limited.' The front cover is ornamented with a picture of Uma, and the title of the book, in gold.

Published on April 7, 1893, at the price of six shillings. The price seems originally to have been fixed at five shillings, and in the earliest copies this sum is printed with the list of books on p. [ii], but the numeral 5 is altered with a pen to 6.

Of the stories contained in Island Nights' Entertainments, The Beach of Falesá originally appeared under the title of Uma in The Illustrated London News, vol. ci. (July 2 to August 6, 1892); The Bottle Imp in Black and White, vol. i. (March 28, April 4, 1891); and The Isle of Voices in The National Observer, vol. ix. (February 4, 11, 18, 25, 1893). (See Part IV. Nos. 111, 114, and 123).

The Beach of Falesá was begun by the author at Vailima in November 1890. 'It just shot through me like a bullet in one of my moments of awe, alone in that tragic jungle. . . . It is very strange, very extravagant, I daresay; but it's varied, and picturesque, and has a pretty love affair, and ends well.' Stevenson originally intended to call the story The High Woods of Ulufanua, the meaning of which he thus explains: 'Ulufanua is a lovely Samoan word, ulu=grove; fanua=land: groveland—"the tops of the high trees." Savao, "sacred to the wood," and Faavao, "wood-ways," are the names of two of the characters, Ulufanua the name of the supposed island' (Vailima Letters, 1895, pp. 16, 17). In September 1891 the author changed the title to The Beach of Falesá, and it was finished about that time.

THE BEACH OF FALESÁ: 1892.

The | Beach of Falesá. | By Robert Louis Stevenson, | Author of 'The Wrecker,' 'Treasure Island,' Etc. |

Issued in red cloth, cut, back lettered in gold: 'The | Beach | of | Falesá | R. L. | Stevenson | Cassell & Company | Limited.'

This is the first issue in book form of the first story included in the volume Island Nights' Entertainments. A few copies were issued to secure the copyright. In one copy Charles Baxter has written on the fly-leaf: 'C. Baxter Recd., 23 July 1892. From Publishers. One of "expurgated" set printed to secure English copyright. C. B. on p. 16. Marriage Certificate is deleted. v. p. 95, 99.'

THE BEACH OF FALESÁ AND THE BOTTLE IMP: 1892.

The | Beach of Falesá, | Being the Narrative of a South Sea Trader, | and | The Bottle Imp. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson, | Author of 'Treasure Island,' 'Kidnapped,' etc. | Cassell & Company, Limited: | London, Paris & Melbourne, | 1892 | [All rights reserved.]

Collation :—Crown octavo, pp. viii+222, consisting of a leaf, recto blank, on verso, 'Works by R. L. Stevenson | Published by Cassell & Company,' enclosed within a plain one-line border, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], on verso in centre publishers' device; Dedication, 'To those old Shipmates among the Islands,' pp. [v, vi], verso blank; List of Illustrations, p. [vii]; [picture of Uma], p. [viii]; Text, pp. [1]-148; Fly-title, 'The Bottle Imp,' pp. [149, 150], verso blank; Text, pp. [151]-222; the imprint, 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C.' at foot of p. 222.

The Note found in the published editions on p. [150] is below the woodcut on p. [151].

The first title in the 'List of Works by Stevenson' on p. [ii] is 'The Beach of Falesá, and the Bottle Imp. 5/.' The frontispiece is the 'Sketch Map of the Beach and Neighbouring Country.'

In 1914, Walter M. Hill of Chicago issued a description of this trial or proof addition, giving a facsimile of the Title-page, list of manuscript changes, corrections, and additions as it was finally published in England, with the 'Isle of Voices,' under the title 'Island Nights' Entertainments.'

The edition of Island Nights' Entertainments published by Charles Scribner's Sons, 1893, follows this uncorrected text.

Written by Himself, and now set forth by | Robert Louis Stevenson | Cassell and Company Limited | London Paris & Melbourne | 1893 | All rights reserved.

Collation:—pp. [i, ii]+x+372, consisting of an unnumbered leaf with blank recto, and on verso a list of works 'By the same Author,' enclosed within a plain one-line border; Half-title, Catriona, verso blank, pp. [i, ii]; Title-page as above, in centre of verso publishers' device, pp. [iii, iv]; Dedication to Charles Baxter, pp. [v, vi]; Summary of the Earlier Adventures of David Balfour, pp. [vii]-ix; Contents, p. [x]; Text, pp. [1]-371; p. [372] blank. There are headlines throughout. The imprint, 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C.,' occurs at the foot of p. 371. At end are Advertisements, pp. 34.

Issued in dark blue cloth boards, uncut, lettered across the back: 'Catriona | R. L. | Stevenson | Cassell & Co. | Limited,' within plain one-line borders.

Catriona was first issued under the title of David Balfour. Memoirs of his Adventures at Home and Abroad, in Atalanta, December 1892, January to September 1893.

The following note appeared in The Athenæum for October 21, 1893, No. 3443, p. 556:—

'We are asked to correct a slip in the summary of Mr. Stevenson's "Kidnapped," which stands at the head of his new novel "Catriona." The words "in the forest of Ettrick" should have followed the name of the village of Essendean, instead of standing, as they do, after the words "of the house of Shaws near Cramond." The house of Shaws was, of course, not in Ettrick Forest at all, but, as the whole tenor of the story makes it plain, "near in by Edinburgh"; and Cramond, as every dweller in the Lothians is aware, is a village situated on the water of Almond, near where it runs into the Forth. We are at the same time requested to mention that the proper pronunciation of the heroine's name is not, as probably most readers have assumed, Catrīona, but Catrĭona, with the accent on the i pronounced Italianwise, and the o but slightly sounded, so that the pronunciation closely approaches "Catreena." We may add that the tale in question is now in the fifteenth thousand of its sale, and that it is the intention of the publishers next year to produce a handsome two-volume edition of the complete book, with illustrations by Mr. Hole, under the title "Adventures of David Balfour": vol. i. "Kidnapped"; vol. ii. "Catriona."'

The Adventures of David Balfour | Catriona | A Sequel to 'Kidnapped' | Being | Memoirs of the further Adventures of | David Balfour at Home and Abroad | In which are set forth his Misfortunes anent the APPIN Murder; his | Troubles with LORD ADVOCATE GRANT; Captivity on the Bass Rock; | Journey into Holland and France; and singular Relations with JAMES MORE DRUMMOND or MACGREGOR, a Son of the notorious Rob Roy, | and his Daughter Catriona. Written by Himself, and now set forth by | Robert Louis Stevenson | with Sixteen Illustrations by W. B. Hole, R.S.A. | Twenty-Ninth Thousand | Cassell and Company, Limited | London, Paris & Melbourne | 1898 | All Rights Reserved.

Collation :—Crown octavo, pp. viii+372, consisting of Half-title, The Adventures of David Balfour. | Part Two : | Catriona, pp. [i, ii], on verso List of Works 'By the same Author'; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], on verso publishers' device and dates of editions; Dedication, pp. [v], vi; Contents, p. [vii]; List of Illustrations, p. [viii]; Text, pp. 1-371; p. [372] blank; at foot of p. 371 the imprint: 'Printed by Cassell & Company, Limited, La Belle Sauvage, London, E.C. | 20. 198.'

Issued in greyish-green cloth, with a coloured design on front of cover enlarged from the illustration at p. 263. Lettered on back 'Catriona | The Further | Adventures of | David Balfour | R. Louis Stevenson,' in gold.

Published May 20, 1896, at the price of six shillings.

Though but a fragment, Weir of Hermiston affords sufficient evidence to show that it would have been its author's greatest work. It does not fall within the scope of this Bibliography to include reviews of Mr. Stevenson's various writings, but the compiler cannot refrain from quoting the powerful summary which appeared in The Times of May 27, 1896 :—

'The fragment, as it stands, is a series of studies, the most masterly which Mr. Stevenson has yet produced. There is a want of cohesiveness; the portions are not yet in their final relations; we could only judge the whole in the light of the whole, and that is, necessarily, impossible. Neither Dickens, nor even Thackeray, left a fragment so tantalising, because Denis Duval was not written, like Weir, in the fulness of the author's powers, and Edwin Drood was written in their decay. In Weir of Hermiston Mr. Stevenson was culminating, and the thread broke in his hand. To lovers of literature the fragment will probably be his most interesting piece; but the public, anxious to know "what became of them all," will be constant to Treasure Island. Thus the fortunes of the story are as tragical as is its own essential nature. It is the most potent, true, sincere, and original of Mr. Stevenson's works, and, despite its gloom, is perhaps the most attractive. The style is the old exquisite style with few or none of the excesses in the qualities. We can say little more without diminishing the pleasure of readers in the too brief fragment, which is all of gold.'

It would appear that although the subject of this novel had long been simmering in the author's mind, it first began to take definite shape in the summer of 1892. In a letter to Mr. Baxter written in the December of that year, he says: 'I have a novel on the stocks to be called The Justice-Clerk. It is pretty Scotch, the Grand Premier is taken from Braxfield—and some of the story is—well—queer. The heroine is seduced by one man, and finally disappears with the other man who shot him. . . . Mind you, I expect The Justice-Clerk to be my masterpiece. My Braxfield is already a thing of beauty and a joy for ever, and so far as he has gone far my best character' (Letters, ii. 273).

The broken sentence at the end was dictated on the morning of his death.

These lines were originally prefixed (in facsimile of Mr. Stevenson's handwriting) to the illustrated edition of The Stickit Minister, by S. R. Crockett, 1894.

XLIV. EVENSONG—The embers of the day are red, . . 85

These poems were forwarded in proof to Mr. Sidney Colvin with a letter, dated May 18, 1894 (Vailima Letters, 1895, p. 331), in which the author said: 'I am sending you a lot of verses, which had best, I think, be called Underwoods, Book III., but in what order are they to go?' Mr. Colvin struck out two of the poems and shortened one or two others, and they were published for the first time in the 'Edinburgh Edition' of The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Poetry,' 1895, under the title of Songs of Travel, with a valuable bibliographical note (infra, p. 261).

The Misadventures of John Nicholson, . . . . . 1
Originally published in Yule-Tide, Cassell's Christmas Annual, pp. 3-12 (December 1887), Part IV. No. 94; reprinted in 'The Edinburgh Edition,' vol. xxii. pp. 3-91; 'The Pentland Edition,' vol. viii. pp. 317; 'The Swanston Edition,' vol. x. p. 1.

The Body-Snatcher, . . . . . 109
Originally published in The Pall Mall Christmas Extra, 1884 (Part III. No. 1); reprinted in 'The Pentland Edition,' vol. iii. pp. 291; 'The Swanston Edition,' vol. iii. p. 277.

The Story of a Lie, . . . . . 145
Originally published in The New Quarterly Magazine, New Series, No. 25 (October 1879), pp. 307-355; reprinted in 'The Edinburgh Edition,' vol. vii. pp. 293-374; 'The Pentland Edition,' vol. iv. pp. 333; 'The Swanston Edition,' vol. xxi. p. 3.

Although this was the first English edition of the tales, in a collected form, they had been published the previous year in America, in a book bearing the following title :—

The Story of a Lie | and other Tales | by | Robert Louis Stevenson | [Photogravure vignette of 'Skerrymore,' Bournemouth] | Boston | Herbert E. Turner & Co. | 1904. Twelvemo, pp. xii + 276.

On this account, as well as on that of its artistic format and general get-up, this charming little volume is worthy of the collector's attention.

[7]; Note of Time and Place, p. [8]; Text, pp. [9]-103; p. [104] imprint: 'London, | Printed for Thomas J. Wise, Hampstead, N.W. | Edition limited to Thirty Copies.'

Issued in 'old gold' coloured boards, with untrimmed edges, lettered on back, 'The | Hanging | Judge | R. L. | Stevenson | 1914.'

This play was written by Robert Louis Stevenson, in collaboration with his wife, at Skerryvore, their Bournemouth house, early in 1887. According to Graham Balfour (Life, ii. 3) he helped his wife with the play, and it is difficult to allot their respective shares to the two authors. Stevenson apparently did not think much of it, but Mrs. Stevenson considered it of some value, and the present impression was made from the copy of the text which she herself had selected. It is perhaps a reflex of Stevenson's mind at the time it was written, and it certainly deserves to be redeemed from oblivion, even if it does not merit a place among his celebrated works.

PART II

JUVENILIA, TOY-BOOKS AND NUGÆ

JUVENILIA, TOY-BOOKS AND NUGÆ

THE books and leaflets described in the following entries are among the rarest of the author's productions. They were all issued in small numbers, few were ever intended for publication, and they fetch high prices at auction sales. The idea of the Davos toy-books probably originated in California, but the actual execution of the printing and illustrative work does not seem to have commenced till the winter of 1881-82. The first mention of these trifles occurs in a letter to Mr. Henley, dated from Davos, March 1882, in which Stevenson writes: 'Now that I illustrate my own books, I can always offer you a situation in our house—S. L. Osbourne and Co. As an author gets a halfpenny a copy of verses, and an artist a penny a cut, perhaps a proof-reader might get several pounds a year.' A few days later he sent copies of Black Canyon to Mr. Alexander Ireland and Mr. Edmund Gosse. To the latter he describes his first efforts at wood-cutting in burlesque language. Many of these cuts exhibit great artistic spirit. The effect of light and shade in the illustration to The Disputatious Pines in The Graver and the Pen reminds one of a lithograph by Jettmar:—

The first pine to the second said,
'My leaves are black, my branches red;
I stand upon this moor of mine,
A hoar, unconquerable pine.'

The Davos books were printed in facsimile in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, Appendix, 1898, and in A Stevenson Medley, 1899. Some of the cuts were reproduced in The Studio, Special Winter Number, 1896-97, pp. 3-17, and in The Chap Book (Chicago), Nov. 15, 1896, pp. 1-22 (Part IV. No. 140).

THE PENTLAND RISING: 1866.

The Pentland Rising | A Page of History | 1666 | 'A cloud of witnesses ly here, | Who for Christ's interest did appear.' | Inscription on Battle-field at Rullion Green. | Edinburgh | Andrew Elliot, 17 Princes Street | 1866.

Collation:—Foolscap octavo, pp. 22. There is no title-page proper, the above title appearing only upon the front wrapper, which is included in the pagination. The first page of letterpress [p. 3] has a 'dropped head'—'The Pentland Rising: | A Page of History. | 1666.' The headline is The Pentland Rising throughout. The pamphlet is dated at the end, 'Edinburgh, 28th Nov. 1866.' Beyond the publisher's name upon the title-page there is no indication of place of printing.

Issued in grass-green paper wrappers, with the above title-page (enclosed within a plain single-ruled frame) upon the front.

Reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Miscellanies, vol. iv. 1896, pp. 1-27.

This little pamphlet, which was written when Stevenson was barely sixteen, was the outcome of the interest taken by him in the stories of the Covenanters that he had learned in childhood from his nurse, and that, at an even earlier age, he had endeavoured to express in the form of fiction. It was published at the end of 1866, in a small edition, of which the greater number of copies were bought up by his father. In a short time it had become exceedingly scarce, and it was difficult to obtain until March 27, 1899, when the copies which had formerly been in the possession of Stevenson and his mother, to the number of twenty, were thrown upon the market, and sold at Sotheby's by order of the executor.

The Charity Bazaar: | An Allegorical Dialogue.

Collation:—Foolscap quarto, pp. 4. The above title in the form of a 'dropped head,' fills the upper half of p. 1; the remainder of p. 1, the whole of pp. 2-3, and the upper portion of p. 4 are occupied by the text. Pages 2-4 are supplied with a headline 'The Charity Bazaar.' There is no imprint. Printed on ribbed paper.

The majority of the copies extant bear at the end the author's autograph signature or initials. Every copy sold at the Bazaar or distributed at the time was signed. Copies without the signature are 'remainders.'

This boyish skit, privately printed on the occasion of a charity bazaar held at 17 Heriot Row, Edinburgh, has been reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Appendix, 1898, pp. 1-4, in A Stevenson Medley, 1899, pp. 1-4, and in A Medley, Contributed for the Benefit of the Gentlewomen's Association, 1899, pp. 1-4.

Notice | of a | New Form of Intermittent Light | for Lighthouses. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | From the Transactions of the Royal Scottish Society of Arts, | vol. viii., 1870-71. | Edinburgh: | Printed by Neill and Company. | 1871.

Collation:—Octavo, pp. 8, consisting of Title-page as above, pp. [1, 2], verso blank; Text, pp. [3]-7; p. [8] blank. There are headlines throughout, each verso being headed, 'Mr. L. Stevenson on a New Form of,' and each recto, 'Intermittent Light for Lighthouses.' Beyond that upon the title-page there is no imprint.

Issued stitched, and without wrappers.

Reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Appendix, 1898, pp. 8-12, and in A Stevenson Medley, 1899, pp. 8-12.

As notified upon the title-page, this essay, which was awarded the Society's Silver Medal, value three sovereigns, appeared in the Transactions of the Royal Scottish Society of Arts, vol. viii. (1873), pp. 271-275. It was read before the Society on March 27, 1871. A few copies—probably not exceeding 50—were pulled separately from the types of the Transactions, with the pagination altered, and a title-page added.

THE THERMAL INFLUENCE OF FORESTS: 1873.

First Separate Impression.

On the | Thermal Influence of Forests. | By |

Robert Louis Stevenson, Esq. | Edinburgh: | Printed by Neill and Company. | MDCCCLXXIII.

Collation:—Octavo, pp. 14, consisting of Title-page as above (with blank verso), pp. [1, 2]; and Text, pp. 3-14. There are no headlines, the pages being numbered centrally throughout. Beyond that upon the title-page there is no imprint. The pamphlet is formed of a single octavo sheet, the final leaf completing the sixteen pages being entirely blank.

Issued in thin pale blue wrappers, with the title-page reproduced upon the front.

Second Separate Impression.

On the | Thermal Influence of Forests. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson, Esq. | From the Proceedings of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, | Vol. VIII., 1872-73. | Edinburgh: | Printed by Neill and Company. | MDCCCLXXIII.

The collation follows precisely that of the earlier pamphlet, of which indeed it is a page for page reprint.

Issued in thin dark blue paper wrappers, unlettered.

Reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Appendix, 1898, pp. 13-25, and in A Stevenson Medley 1899, pp. 13-25.

This essay was reprinted from the Proceedings of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, vol. viii. (1873) pp. 114-125. It was read before the Society on May 19, 1873. It will be observed that the title-page of the reprint appears in two different forms, one of which has no mention of the Royal Society, while on the other are added the words, 'From the Proceedings of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, vol. viii., 1872-1873.' It is generally supposed that the issue without this addition is the earlier, and that only 26 or 27 copies were printed of this issue. On applying to the printers, Messrs. Neill & Co. of Edinburgh, for information on this point, the present writer received the following reply, dated January 16, 1902:—

'We have to state that we printed the article by R. L. Stevenson on The Thermal Influence of Forests.

'We find that Mr. Stevenson ordered 50 extra copies of his article, but we cannot trace that the article in question was printed and published separately as a book. The copy to which you refer as having a special title-page is probably one of these 50 copies.

'We may mention that it is customary at the present with the Royal Society to give authors of papers 25 copies gratis, with a paper cover, but the pagination, etc., unaltered from what it appears as in the Proceedings.

'It is at the author's option to order any extra copies for his own private use, for which he pays, and he may, if he so desires it, have the pagination altered, and a title-page and cover set specially for himself.'

It will be observed that in both issues the pagination is altered from that in the Proceedings, and a title-page was added, though only in the earlier one is the title-page reproduced upon the front wrapper.

Experience in the Island of New Guinea

Perhaps you remember a few years ago a party sent out from England to New Guinea in search of gold.

I shall now narrate the adventures of this party They were sent out in Her Majesty's Ship Thunder.

They arrived June the 27 1875. The party consisted of ten. The things they took with them to trade and to buy food (for the New Guinea Islander never "gives" any thing "away") 100 pounds of tobacco (for that is one of the vices of the New Guinea Islanders.) Sixty pounds of red and blue beads hatches, knives sugar, flour, meal, tea and coffee and a few other articles. Each of them had a gun pistol and ammunition, and besides each had a pack weighing from 15 to 47 pounds (the natives cannot be trusted to carry because they steal awfully and make such good excuses that you cannot find out.) The leader of the party was Bo wne he was a tremendious big man being six feet ten inches in ... height.

To be continued.

TO M. I. STEVENSON: 1882.

To | M. I. Stevenson | Feb. 11, 1882 | From | R. L. Stevenson | and | S. L. Osbourne.

This is a sheet in twenty-fourmo, consisting of one leaf, printed on pale blue paper, which was sent to Mrs. Stevenson from Davos. On the second page is a woodcut of a woman admiring a daisy: 'The Marguerite. Lawks! what a beautiful flower!! T. S.'

The 'M. I. Stevenson' in the title of this leaflet stands for R. L. Stevenson's mother, and the 'T. S.' after the quotation for his father, Thomas Stevenson. The quotation was humorously described by Robert Louis as the only piece of poetry his father was ever guilty of.

The woodcut was also printed without the legend. It was cut on a block on which was also cut 'A Map' intended for the lead soldiers games, and of which a few copies were printed.

MORAL TALES: 1882.

Robin and Ben: or, the Pirate | and the Apothecary.

Collation:—Pp. ii+20, consisting of Half-title, Moral Tales, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; 'Rob and Ben | or | The Pirate and the Apothecary. Scene the First,' pp. [1, 2], verso blank; 'Scene the Second,' pp. [3, 4], verso blank; 'Scene the Third,' pp. [5, 6], verso blank; Text of Robin and Ben, pp. 7-13; p. [14] blank; Text of The Builder's Doom, pp. 15-20.

The three 'Scenes' are illustrated by three woodcuts, representing episodes in the story of Robin and Ben. These illustrations were worked off in Mr. Stevenson's lifetime, but the accompanying letterpress was first printed in the 'Edinburgh Edition' of The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, Appendix, and afterwards in A Stevenson Medley.

A copy of the woodcut showing the meeting of Robin and Ben, which was sold in Mrs. Strong's sale, has at the bottom the inscription by Stevenson, The Pirate and the Apoth. 5th Proof. It is printed in blue.

One copy of 'Scene the Second' has immediately beneath the woodcut 'R. L. S. Sc. Inv.'

LORD NELSON AND THE TAR: SMUGGLER'S COVE; DEVICE OF THE DAVOS PRESS. UNFINISHED WOODCUTS: 1882.

Lord Nelson and the Tar. A small quarto sheet, with a woodcut measuring 3 by $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The Stevenson Medley gives the legend as Lord Nelson and the Tar. A copy was sold in the Lloyd Osbourne sale with the legend Nelson pointing out to Sea. There is a variation without the legend.

The Smuggler's Cove is a small woodcut measuring $1\frac{7}{8}$ by $2\frac{1}{8}$ inches.

The Device of the Davos Press is a small cut measuring $2\frac{1}{4}$ by $1\frac{5}{8}$ inches. It is an allegorical design with the lettering TYPO OSB placed vertically on the lower left, and LABOR | CRUX | CORONA on the lower right.

There are also three unfinished woodcuts from which prints have been taken, A Man running towards a Gallows, A Mountain Scene, and A Portrait.

'WE FOUND HIM FIRST AS IN THE DELLS OF MAY': 1883.

A small post quarto sheet, measuring 11 by $8\frac{3}{4}$ inches, with the following sonnet printed in old-face type:—

We found Him first as in the Dells of May
The Dreaming Damsel finds the Earliest Flower:
Thoughtless we wandered in the evening hour:
Aimless and pleased we went our random way;

In the foot-haunted City, in the Night,
Among the alternate Lamps we went and came
Till like a humorous Thunderbolt, that Name,
The hated Name of Brash, assailed our Sight.
We saw, we paused, we entered, seeking Gin.
His Wrath, like a huge Breaker on the Beach,
Broke instant forth. He on the Counter beat
In his infantile Fury; and his Feet
Danced impotent Wrath upon the Floor within:
Still as we fled we heard his Idiot Screech.

When at Davos in the winter of 1881, Stevenson composed a series of burlesque sonnets, of which only the above appears to have survived, in memory of Peter Brash, a publican of Edinburgh, whose tavern was a favourite resort in the old university days. These effusions went by the name of Brashiana, and on receiving the proof sheet of probably the preceding sonnet from Mr. Charles Baxter, the author wrote him an amusing letter from Nice (January 12, 1883), setting forth in 'braid Scots' the plan of the forthcoming volume, which would contain 'the feck o' twenty sangs,' which he calculated would 'make thretty pages, gin ye were to prent on ae side only,' with a 'Pre-face, and a title-page and a dedication and an index wi' the first lines like, and the deil an' a'. Nae copies to be given to the Liberys.' Nothing more, however, was heard of the project, and probably only one or two proofs of the sonnet were struck off, as it is among the rarest of Stevensoniana.

The sonnet was reprinted anonymously in The Outlook for February 26, 1898, under the heading of A Literary Enigma, with an editorial invitation for the solution of the authorship. In the next issue (March 5, 1898, an answer was contributed by a lady, 'I say it is Robert Louis Stevenson, Prince of Jesters,' and the editor appended the following note:—'But about the Sonnet? Ah! thereby hangs a tale, and if we can prevail upon our contributor C. B. to unfold it . ... a not unamusing record of Stevenson's "High Jinks" in the early seventies may be unrolled.' Mr. Charles Baxter did not see fit to reveal any Brashian secrets, although in an earlier number of The Outlook (February 19, 1898) he had given a most interesting account of Stevenson's connection with 'The Speculative Society of Edinburgh' (Part IV. No. 150).

In the Harry Elkins Widener Collection are two copies of this Sonnet, each differing in punctuation, capitals, and one in spelling. These are proofs with Stevenson's corrections.

Lines 1 and 2:—

We found him first in the dells of May
The dreaming damsel finds the earliest flower;

Lines 13, 14 :—

Danced impotent wrath upon the flour [sic] within.
Still as we fled we heard his idiot screech.

There is also in the Collection a proof copy of a second Sonnet with corrections by Stevenson :—

II.

We found him as we lost. The glorious BRASH
Fell, as the cedar on the mountain side.

Lines 13, 14 :—

Where BRASH, the Beershop Hornet, bowed by time,
In futile anger grinned across the zinc.

These sonnets and the manuscript of two others, Sonnets III. and IV., dedicated to Charles Baxter, are reproduced in facsimile, and the following title 'To the Thompson Class Club, 1883,' in the 'Catalogue of the Books and Manuscripts of Robert Louis Stevenson in the Library of the late Harry Elkins Widener.'

TO THE THOMPSON CLASS CLUB: 1883.

To the Thompson Class Club | 'from their Stammering Laureate.'

An octavo leaflet of four pages, with cut edges, printed by Messrs. T. and A. Constable of Edinburgh. The poem consists of fourteen stanzas, headed as above, and signed 'R. L. S. For Christmas 1883.'

Friends, that have together met,
Toast the flying year,
Do not at the board forget
Friends afar from here.

'The Thompson Class Club' was composed of the old pupils of the Edinburgh Academy who belonged to the class of Mr. D'Arcy Wentworth Thompson. This school followed the old Scots system under which a master every year began with a junior class, and carried it through the school. Every fourth year the master took up the lowest class, teaching it concurrently with a higher one. Every boy thus had the same class master through the whole of his school career, and the class was called after the master. Robert Louis Stevenson joined Mr. Thompson's class in 1861, and left the Academy in 1863. It was the custom to form a sort of club of the old members of the class, who dined together once a year; and in his capacity of elected laureate of the 'Thompson Class Club' Stevenson contributed this set of verses, as well as those that form the subject of the next entry.

An octavo leaflet of four pages, with untrimmed edges, printed by Messrs. T. and A. Constable of Edinburgh. The fourth page is blank, and the other three are enclosed within a one-rule border.

The poem consists of ten stanzas, written in 'braid Scots,' with heading as above. At the end is subscribed 'The Laureat Ste'enson | to the Thamson Class.' It was reprinted in Underwoods, 1887, p. 110, under the title of Their Laureate to an Academy Class Dinner Club. No date is given, but the writer is informed on the best authority that it was probably 1885.

Dear Thamson Class, whaure'er I gang,
It aye comes ower me wi' a spang:
'Lordsake! they Thamson lads—(deil hang,

SARANAC BRONZE MEMORIAL TABLET: 1915.

A bronze bas-relief, 18 by 30 inches in size, of Robert Louis Stevenson, standing, in fur coat and cap, has been embedded in the verandah of the house in which he lived during the winter 1887 and 1888. The figure of Stevenson fills the right half of the tablet, and the following inscription the left half:—

"Here dwelt | Robert Louis Stevenson | During the Winter 1887-1888. | I was walking in the verandah | of a small house outside the | hamlet of Saranac. It was | winter; the night was very | dark; the air was clear and cold | and sweet with the purity | of forests. ### THE BODY SNATCHER: 1884.

Price Sixpence. | Pall Mall Christmas 'Extra' | R. Louis Stevenson's | The Body Snatcher | [Illustration] | Twenty Guinea Prizes. | For Particulars See Contents. | Office, 2 Northumberland Street, Strand, London, W.C. | 1884. All rights reserved.

Collation:—Quarto, pp. 96, consisting of Title-page as above, on front wrapper; Contents, pp. [1, 2], advertisements on verso; Text, pp. [3]-88; Advertisements, pp. 89-96.

THE BODY SNATCHER. By Robert Louis Stevenson, pp. 3-12. With an illustration by Matt Morgan, which is repeated on the front cover.

The Body Snatcher was written in June 1881 at Kinnaird Cottage, Pitlochry, and was originally intended to form one of a series of tales of terror, or, as Stevenson called them, 'crawlers,' which had been planned in collaboration with Mrs. Stevenson, and were to be brought out under the title of The Black Man and Other Tales. Of these stories, Thrawn Janet and The Merry Men were published in The Cornhill Magazine, but The Body Snatcher was 'laid aside in a justifiable disgust, the tale being horrid.' Subsequently, being asked to contribute a story to The Pall Mall Christmas number, he offered Markheim, but as it fell short of the space reserved for it, Stevenson sent The Body Snatcher, which, in a letter to the editor, he described as 'blood-curdling enough —and ugly enough—to chill the blood of a grenadier.' Some sensation was caused by the method adopted to advertise the story, and Stevenson in a letter to Mr. Gosse (Letters, i. 339) complains that Mr. Morley of The Pall Mall had sent for his opinion 'the most truculent advertisement I ever saw, in which the white hairs of Gladstone are dragged round Troy behind my chariot-wheels.' An interesting account of the circumstances under which The Body Snatcher was published in The Pall Mall 'Extra' was given in a paper (probably written by Mr. Charles Morley) which appeared in The Westminster Budget, No. 106, p. 25 (February 8, 1895). See Appendix.

The Body Snatcher was reprinted in The Pall Mall Budget, No. 1375, Jan. 31, 1895, pp. 23-29, and in The Pall Mall Gazette, No. 9315, Jan. 31, 1895, pp. 1, 2, and No. 9316, Feb. 1, 1895, p. 3, with illustrations by A. S. Hartrick. The following note is appended to the reprint in The Pall Mall Gazette:—

'This story was issued as a supplement to the Pall Mall Budget many years ago. As the circulation was then small, and the number has been long out of print, the tale is here reprinted in answer to those who have long clamoured for a sight of "The Body Snatcher."'

It was published in book form by the Merriam Company, New York, 1895, in the Violet Series (Part 1. No. 43).

MARKHEIM: 1885.

Unwin's Annual, 1886 | The | Broken | Shaft | Tales in Mid-Ocean | Edited by Henry Norman | 'Whimsies of wantons and stories of dread, | To make the stout-hearted look under the bed.' | Landor. | London | T. Fisher Unwin | 26 Paternoster Square | 1886.

Collation:—Quarto, pp. 108, consisting of Title-page as above, pp. [1, 2], advertisement on verso; Contents, pp. [3, 4], advertisement on verso; Text, pp. [5]-108, with imprint at foot of last page, 'Unwin Brothers, Printers, London and Chilworth.'

Issued in a grey-green wrapper, with title and contents, together with an illustration representing the passengers on board the Bavaria, on the front cover.

MARKHEIM. By Robert Louis Stevenson. Pp. 27-40. With an illustration by Harold Copping.

Though dated 1886, this Annual was published in December 1885 at the price of one shilling.

Markheim was written at Bournemouth in 1884, and was originally offered to The Pall Mall Gazette for its Christmas number in that year, but was found to be too short. In its place The Body Snatcher was accepted. After the publication of Markheim in The Broken Shaft, it was not reprinted till 1887, when it found a place in the collection of stories published under the title of The Merry Men, pp. 111-134.

The Broken Shaft was also published in New York by D. Appleton and Company, in 'The New Twenty-five Cent Series,' copyrighted by them in 1885. It is a twelvemo, pp. 223, Markheim filling pp. 52-80. It was issued in white paper wrappers with lettering and vignette in blue, and dated 1886.

Inserted in the British Museum copy, which is on fine paper, is a note as follows: 'This is a large paper quarto edition of a small 8vo book in the series "Canterbury Poets," Edited by W. Sharp.'

The following sonnets by Stevenson were printed for the first time in this volume, and, so far as the present writer is aware, have not been reprinted elsewhere :—

THE TOUCH OF LIFE. No. ccviii., p. 208 :—

I saw a circle in a garden sit
Of dainty dames and solemn cavaliers,
Whereof some shuddered at the burrowing nit,
And at the carrion worm some burst in tears, etc.

THE ARABESQUE (COMPLAINT OF AN ARTIST). Notes, p. 319 :—

I made a fresco on the caronal,
Amid the sounding silence and the void
Of life's wind-spent and unfrequented hall.
I drew the nothings that my soul enjoyed, etc.

This volume has been frequently reprinted in the series known as The Canterbury Poets, in different formats and bindings. In the more recent editions, The Touch of Life will be found on p. 208, and The Arabesque in the Notes, p. 321.

THE MARRIAGE OF CUPID AND PSYCHE: 1887.

The Most Pleasant and Delectable Tale | Of the Marriage of Cupid and Psyche. | Done into English by William Adlington | Of University College in Oxford | With a Discourse on the Fable | By Andrew Lang, late | Of Merton College | In Oxford. | [Ornament.] London. M.D.CCCLXXXVII. Published by David | Nutt, in the Strand.

Collation:—Large demy octavo, pp. lxxxviii+66, consisting of two unnumbered leaves, on the verso of the second, the Certificate of Issue, 'Only sixty copies of this Edition have been printed, | fifty of which are for sale. | This Copy is No. . . . .'; an unnumbered leaf, with Half-title on recto, 'Cupid and Psyche,' verso blank; Frontispiece in duplicate; Title-page as above, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Verses, 'To | Master Andrew Lang | on his re-editing of | Cupid and Psyche,' signed 'Robert Louis Stevenson,' pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; 'The New Psyche,'

signed 'May Kendall,' p. [v]; 'Cupid and Psyche,' signed 'J. W. Mackail,' pp. [vi], vii; 'The Cupid of To-day,' signed 'F. Locker-Lampson,' p. [viii]; 'The Mythologist | and Psyche,' signed 'A. L.,' pp. [ix], x; on p. x, 'Vipereum Malum,' signed 'W. H. Pollock'; Dedication, 'To Robert Bridges,' pp. [xi, xii], verso blank; Preface, pp. [xiii]-xvi; Introduction, pp. [xvii]-lxxxvi; Fly-title, pp. [lxxxvii, lxxxviii], verso blank; Etching of Venus and the Dove, in duplicate; Text, pp. [1]-65; p. [66] blank; at the foot of p. 65 is the imprint, 'Printed by Ballantyne, Hanson & Co. | Edinburgh and London.'

Issued in light grey paper boards, with artificial vellum back, on which is printed the title. The design on the cover of the small paper copies is printed on Japanese vellum, and inserted after the end-papers, which are white. The text is printed on handmade paper, with untrimmed edges.

This work formed the first volume of the Bibliothèque de Carabas.

I have given a collation of the large paper edition, because the verses addressed by Mr. Stevenson to 'Master Andrew Lang' will only be found in a few copies of that edition, as they were rigidly suppressed before the book was published. They consisted of seventeen lines in blank verse, and began as follows:—

You, that are much a fisher in the pool
Of things forgotten, and from thence bring up
Gold of old song and diamonds of dead speech,
The scholar, and the angler, and the friend
Of the pale past, this unremembered tale
Restore, and this dead author re-inspire.

These lines have not, I think, been reprinted.

Mr. Andrew Lang responded in his dedication to another volume of the same series, The Secret Commonwealth of Elves, Fauns, and Fairies, by Robert Kirk, M.A., 1893, in which the verses, of which the first stanza runs as follows, originally appeared:—

O Louis! you that like them maist,
Ye're far frae kelpie, wraith, and ghaist,
And fairy dames, no unco chaste,
And haunted cell.
Amang a heathen clan ye're placed,
That kens na hell!

These verses were reprinted in Ban and Arrière Ban, 1894, pp. 48, 49, in which volume also appeared (pp. 72, 73) the Ballant o' Ballantrae, inscribed to Robert Louis Stevenson.

AMERICAN NOTES: 1891.

American Series. | American Notes. | By | Rudyard Kipling, | Author of 'Soldiers Three,' 'Plain Tales from the Hills,' | 'The Story of the Gadsbys,' 'The Phantom 'Rickshaw,' | 'The Courting of Dinah Shadd,' etc. etc. | and | The Bottle Imp. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson. | New York: | M. J. Ivers & Co., Publishers, | 86 Nassau Street. [1891].

Crown octavo, pp. 160.

The Bottle Imp occupies pp. 117-160.

The first issue of this book is exceedingly rare. Only those copies with the publishers' address, '86 Nassau Street,' on title-page, and with Colgate's advertisement on the back cover are genuine. Messrs. Colgate furnished four different electros for their advertisement. They were put on the press and all printed on the same sheet at once, and were afterwards cut up. Thus there are four varieties of the first issue. Shortly after printing the first issue, Messrs. Ivers removed to 379 Pearl Street, and this address appears on the title-page of most copies.

The Bottle Imp was first published in Black and White, March and April 1891, and in The Samoan Missionary Magazine, 'O Le Sula Samoa,' Apia, 1891, May to November. It formed the second story of The Beach of Falesá, which Cassell and Company intended to publish in 1892 (Part I. No. 41), but which did not appear until 1893 under the title Island Nights' Entertainment.

[68] blank. There are three coloured facsimilia of sketches by I[sobel] S[trong], one facing the title-page, and the others at pp. xii. and xiv.

Issued in dark crimson buckram, top edges gilt, others untrimmed, uniform with 'The Edinburgh Edition' of The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, and lettered on the back-title, 'Works of | Stevenson | An | Object | of | Pity | Privately | Printed.'

The Japan paper copies are on sheets, uncut, unopened, laid in a box, on the back of which is the label lettered as the regular edition.

The whole of 'Tusitala's' epic, The Samoid, is included in the book, a portion below the illustration at p. xii, and the remainder forming an introduction to Chap. II. (p. 30).

The very interesting Introduction by Lady Jersey details the circumstances under which the work was composed, and, as regards this special edition, adds that 'Mr. Blaikie, on behalf of Messrs. Constable, now generously proposes to present, to the writers and a few of their personal friends, a private reprint of the booklet, in the form of the Edinburgh Edition.'

At p. 41 is a 'Map illustrating Stevenson's Life in the South Seas.'

Issued in dark red buckram, with yellow glazed paper back titles, top edges gilt, others uncut, uniform with The Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson.

Several writings of Robert Louis Stevenson in prose and verse were published for the first time by Mr. Graham Balfour in his Life of the Author. The following is a rough list of them:—

IN PROSE.

Extracts from an Autobiography, written in 1887, and intended to form a later chapter in A Family of Engineers, i. 17-20.

Extracts from an unpublished autobiographical MS., dated Swanston, May 18, 1873, i, 29, 31, 32, 33, 35, 40.

Extracts from a Diary written in May-July 1872, i. 107-109.

Reminiscences of Colinton Manse: an unpublished MS., written probably about 1872-73, i. 40-47.

Autobiographical fragment, written in San Francisco early in 1880, i. 44 note, 83, 84, 86-94.

Reminiscences written in Samoa, i. 50, 51.

Journals and Notes in the South Seas, ii. 43, 44, 47-49, 53-56, 85-88, 92, 93, 96-101.

Address to the Samoan Students at Malua, January 1890, Appendix A, ii. 187-192.

Address on Missions in the South Seas, read before the Women's Missionary Association and Members of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of New South Wales, at Sydney, March 18, 1893, Appendix B, ii. 193-195.

IN VERSE.

Some very early lines in rhythm, called by him 'Songstry,' and written April 23, 1857, i. 32:—

Had not an angel got the pride of man, etc.

A short poem of eight lines, of which the first stanza is reproduced, i. 69, and the second, ii. 146:—

Light foot, and tight foot,
And green grass spread,
Early in the morning,
But hope is on ahead.

Brief day and bright day
And sunset red,
Early in the evening,
The stars are overhead.

A rondeau, i. 110, illustrating Mr. Balfour's remarks on Stevenson's experiments in the French verse metres of the sixteenth century, i. 140, 141:—

Since I am sworn to live my life
And not to keep an easy heart,
Some men may sit and drink apart,
I bear a banner in the strife, etc.

In addition to these extracts several letters of Stevenson were published for the first time in Mr. Balfour's Life:—

To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Barbizon, Summer 1875, i. 132.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Nemours, 1875, i. 133.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Paris, Autumn 1875, i. 134.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Paris, Oct. 11, 1875, i. 135.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Euston Hotel, Oct. 16, 1874, i. 137.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Compiègne, Sept. 9, 1876, i. 143.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Paris, Feb. 1, 1877, i. 150.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Paris, Feb. 15, 1878, i. 155.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Davos, Dec. 15, 1880, i. 185.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Hyères, 1884, i. 205.
To Mrs. Stevenson, dated Bournemouth, July 1887, ii. 25.
To Miss Adelaide Boodle, dated Vailima, 1894, ii. 144.

The Life of Robert Louis Stevenson was published on October 18, 1901, at the price of twenty-five shillings net. It was of course extensively reviewed in the daily and weekly press. The notice by Mr. Andrew Lang in The Morning Post, printed on the day of publication, is perhaps the most interesting, on account of the personal reminiscences which it contains.

The Life | of | Robert Louis Stevenson | By | Graham Balfour | Abridged Edition | Revised and Illustrated | New York | Charles Scribner's Sons | MCMV.

Collation:—Crown octavo, 6 preliminary leaves, and 364 pp. of Text. There is some new material of importance scattered through the book, four portraits of Stevenson, and eight other illustrations.

ROADS.

This paper was signed 'L. S. Stoneven.' It was reprinted, under the title of Roads, in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Miscellanies, vol. iv. pp. 114-124 (1896).

This article was Stevenson's first contribution to the periodical press, and was written at his house in Heriot Row. It was finished on Saturday, September 13, 1873. On the following Monday the young author looked it over again, and was 'aghast at its feebleness. It is the trial of a very 'prentice hand indeed. Shall I ever learn to do anything well?' so he wrote to a kind and sympathetic friend (Letters, 1899, i. 53). It had been originally sent to The Saturday Review, but was transferred to The Portfolio. After its appearance in print, Stevenson changed his opinion of its merits, and in a letter to his mother he wrote that 'it is quite the best thing I have ever done, to my taste. There are things expressed in it far harder to express than in anything else I have ever had; and that, after all, is the great point. As for style, ça viendra peut-être' (Life, i. 139).

ORDERED SOUTH.

Reprinted in Virginibus Puerisque, pp. 137-163 (1881). (Part i. No. 5.)

At the end of October 1873 Stevenson came to London and saw Dr. Andrew Clark, who promptly despatched him to Mentone for a winter's rest and sunshine. 'This episode of his life gave occasion to the essay Ordered South, the only one of his writings in which he ever took the invalid point of view, or allowed his health troubles in any degree to colour his work' (Letters, 1889, i. 63). It was the first essay of Stevenson's to be republished in its original form.

ON LORD LYTTON'S 'FABLES IN SONG.'

Reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Miscellanies, vol. iv. pp. 233-245 (1896).

This essay was written at the suggestion of Mr. John Morley, the editor of The Fortnightly Review. The composition was rather a struggle, and Stevenson did not think much of the work when finished.

VICTOR HUGO'S ROMANCES.

Reprinted in Familiar Studies of Men and Books, pp. 1-37 (1882), (Part i. No 7).

This essay marked, in Stevenson's judgment, the beginning of his command of style. He told Mr. Graham Balfour long afterwards in Samoa that in this paper he had first found himself able to say several things in the way in which he felt they should be said. It was written chiefly at Swanston after his return from Mentone.

BÉRANGER.

Not reprinted.

This memoir was written at the request of Professor Spencer Baynes, the editor of The Encyclopædia Britannica, who had rejected a former article on Burns, on the plea that it was 'thought to convey a view of the poet too frankly critical, and too little in accordance with Scotch tradition.' It may be presumed that a great part of this article was worked into the essay on 'Burns' which appeared in The Cornhill Magazine for October 1879 (infra, No. 51).

A LODGING FOR THE NIGHT: A STORY OF FRANCIS VILLON.

Reprinted in New Arabian Nights, vol. ii. pp. 105-140 (1882).

The career of Villon, as a theme for an essay or a story, had been contemplated by Stevenson two years previously, when he was studying French poets and poetry among the artist haunts of Fontainebleau. He was interested in the poet to the close of his life (cf. his letters to Marcel Schwob, Letters, ii. 1899, pp. 197, 218). In Literature, vol. v., No. 107, p. 449, is a letter from Mr. Sidney Colvin, enclosing a very interesting communication from M. Schwob, relative to the sources from which Stevenson drew his picture of Villon in his essay bearing that personage's name and in A Lodging for the Night.

THE STORY OF A LIE.

Printed (but not published) in book form, as follows:—

The Story of a Lie. | By | Robert Louis Stevenson | London: | Hayley & Jackson, Little Queen Street, W.C. | 1882. Crown 8vo. pp. 80 (Part I. No. 6).

Reprinted in The Works of Robert Louis Stevenson, 'Edinburgh Edition,' Tales and Fantasies, vol. ii. pp. 293-374 (1895).

This story was written in the steerage of the SS. Devonia, August 1879, 'in great anxiety of mind,' while Stevenson was on his passage to New York. The author intended to rewrite it entirely, as he considered it 'too weak and ragged,' but the project was not carried out, and he never consented to its republication during his lifetime.

HENRY DAVID THOREAU: HIS CHARACTER AND OPINIONS.

Reprinted in Familiar Studies of Men and Books, pp. 129-171 (1882).

A short commentary on this essay will be found in a letter to Dr. Alexander H. Japp, dated August 1881 (Letters, i. 215). It was this correspondence that led to Stevenson's acquaintance with Dr. Japp, to a visit of the latter gentleman to Braemar, and incidentally to the publication of Treasure Island in Young Folks.

THE PAVILION ON THE LINKS.

Reprinted in New Arabian Nights, vol. ii. pp. 1-101 (1882).

Described by Stevenson as a 'grand carpentry story in nine chapters, and I should hesitate to say how many tableaux.' Written in Monterey, it has all the vividness of the Californian atmosphere, and to many people, as to the present writer, it afforded the first revelation of Stevenson's gifts as a romanticist.

THE MERRY MEN.

Reprinted in The Merry Men, pp. 1-69 (1887).

Described by Stevenson as 'a fantastic sonata about the sea and wrecks; and I like it much above my other attempts at story-telling; I think it is strange; if ever I shall make a hit, I have the line now, as I believe.' It was written at Pitlochry, and Stevenson intended to make it much longer, 'with a whole new dénouement, not yet quite clear to me' (Letters, 1899, i. 210, 315). It was, however, never revised.

Reprinted in Memories and Portraits, pp. 169-190 (1887).

In a letter to his mother, dated from Davos, April 9, 1882, Stevenson indicates the characters in his essays on Talk and Talkers: Cockshot = Professor Fleeming Jenkin, Jack = R. A. M. Stevenson, Burly = Mr. W. E. Henley, Athelred = Sir Walter Simpson, Opalstein = John Addington Symonds, and Purcel = Mr. Edmund Gosse.

CONFESSIONS OF A UNIONIST: 1888.

Magazine, 395 | Confessions of a Unionist. | By Robert Louis Stevenson.

The original proof-sheets of four galleys, with the above heading.

This story was written by Stevenson while at Saranac, in 1888, for Scribner's Magazine. Charles Scribner's Sons write :—

'The article was written by Stevenson while he was at Saranac and put into proof, but it was afterwards decided not to publish it in the Magazine, nor was it ever published (as far as our knowledge goes) elsewhere.'

To E. L. Burlingame, Stevenson wrote [Winter, 1887-88] :—

'Possibly some of these days soon I may get together a talk on things current.'

And again, Feb. 1888 :—

'Of course don't use it. Dear Man, I write these to please you, not myself, and you know a main sight better than I do what is good.'

This proof was sold in Mrs. Strong's sale. The note appended to the number in the Sale Catalogue reads in part :—

'No mention is made of this article in Prideaux's Bibliography, and it appears to have been forgotten. The subject is particularly interesting at the present time, when the question of Irish Home Rule is still unsettled.'

A WINTER'S WALK IN CARRICK AND GALLOWAY.

Illustrated by H. Macbeth Raeburn.

The following postscript by Mr. Sidney Colvin is appended:—

'The above is one of its author's early Essays of the Road: why left unfinished I cannot remember or guess, for it seems to me one of the most pleasing and characteristic of its class. It records the first part of a walking tour of some seventy miles, undertaken by Stevenson for health's sake (and with very good effects), between the 8th and the 17th of January 1876.'

Stevenson himself wrote to Mr. Colvin in February 1876:—

'I went to Ayr, Maybole, Girvan, Ballantrae, Stranraer, Glenluce, and Wigton. I shall make an article of it some day soon, "A Winter's Walk in Carrick and Galloway." I had a good time. (Letters, i. 115).

A MOUNTAIN TOWN IN FRANCE. With four illustrations by the author.

The following editorial note prefixed to A Mountain Town is sufficiently explanatory:—

'We are indebted to the representatives of the late Robert Louis Stevenson for permission to print the following account of his stay at Le Monastier in the autumn of 1878. It was intended to serve as the [1] Mr. Colvin, in a note heading the letter from which I have taken this quotation, says that the essay was first printed from the MS. in 'The Edinburgh Edition,' Miscellanies, vol. iv., which was issued in December 1896. It had, however, been published six months previously in the summer number of The Illustrated London News, and in the Bibliographical Note at p. [88] of that volume this fact is correctly stated.

opening chapter of his well-known volume, Travels with a Donkey in the Cévennes*; but the intention was abandoned in favour of a more abrupt beginning, and the fragment is now printed for the first time. We are further allowed to illustrate it by reproductions of some leaves from a sketch-book which (as mentioned in the text) the author kept at the same time. He had, of course, no pretension to be a trained draughtsman, but was accustomed to amuse himself in black and white, both with the pencil and occasionally with the wood-block and knife. A few collectors are familiar with the little tracts to which he supplied humorous cuts and verses in a style of the utmost* naïveté*, to be printed by his young stepson, Lloyd Osbourne, during the winters the family spent at Davos* (1880-81 and 1881-82). By permission of the executors we are able to subjoin reproductions of a few of these curiosities also. Mr. Joseph Pennell has been good enough to furnish a note on the quality, as it strikes him, both of the Davos cuts and the Monastier sketches.'

The 'four illustrations' are four lead-pencil drawings reproduced, in tint, in the same size as the originals.

This paper was issued by Mr. John Lane in a small separate edition for circulation in America (Part I. No. 48).

This number of The Studio also contains an interesting article by Joseph Pennell entitled Robert Louis Stevenson, Illustrator. It gives a good account, accompanied by several facsimiles, of the tiny pamphlets printed at Davos-Platz. The article was also printed in The Chap Book, vol. vi. No. 1, pp. 1-22 (Nov. 15, 1896), published by Herbert S. Stone and Co., Chicago.

OF HIS PITIABLE TRANSFORMATION.

These stanzas, which appeared in At the Sign of the Ship, were introduced by Mr. Andrew Lang with this prefatory note:—

'The following rondel was given, twelve years ago, to a friend of mine, by another friend of mine. He is so far away, and it is such a very little poem, that I venture to print it without telegraphing to the Adirondacks for permission. Probably the author's hand will be easily recognised. I presume that twelve years ago the Sage who laments his youth was just twenty-five. And as to his hair being "grey," it is not even "brindled."'

The rondel begins:—

I, who was young so long,
Young and alert and gay,
Now that my hair is grey,
Begin to change my song.

THE FINE PACIFIC ISLANDS. (Heard in a public-house at Rotherhithe.)

This song was printed by Mr. Andrew Lang in At the Sign of the Ship with the following introduction:—

'The next sea-song came to us from the sea in an envelope with the postmark "Taiohae Taiti, 21 Août, '88." The handwriting of the address appears to be that of the redoubted Viking who sailed in John

Silver's crew, who winged the Black Arrow, and who wandered in the heather with Alan Breck. Aut Robertus Ludovicus aut Diabolus sent the song, I presume, but whether he really heard it sung at Rotherhithe, or whether he is the builder of the lofty rhyme, is between himself and his conscience.'

The song begins:—

The jolly English Yellowboy
Is a 'ansome coin when new,
The Yankee Double Eagle
Is large enough for two.

DEDICATION.

[On the fly-leaf of the copy of The Silverado Squatters sent to 'Virgil Williams and Dora Norton Williams,' to whom it was dedicated, is the following poem in the handwriting of the author; written at Hyères, where, as he says in his diary, he spent the happiest years of his life.]

Here, from the forelands of the tideless sea,
Behold and take my offering unadorned.
In the Pacific air it sprang; it grew
Among the silence of the Alpine air;
In Scottish heather blossomed; and at last
By that unshapen sapphire, in whose face
Spain, Italy, France, Algiers, and Tunis view
Their introverted mountains, came to fruit.
Back now, my Booklet! on the diving ship,
And posting on the rails, to home return,—
Home, and the friends whose honouring name you bear.

The same number contains an extract from Stevenson's diary, headed O der Lieber Gott, Friends! a tribute in prose and verse to R. L. S. by Bruce Porter, and a portrait from a photograph taken by Mrs. Stevenson at Bournemouth in 1885.

Reprinted in Poetical Works, 'Pentland Edition,' 1906, and 'Swanston Edition,' 1911.

THE COCK SHALL CROW.

This short poem, called in the manuscript A Ditty (To an air from Bach), consists of two stanzas, of which the first runs as follows:—

The cock shall crow
In the morning grey,
The bugles blow
At the break of day:
The cock shall sing and the merry bugles ring,
And all the little brown birds sing upon the spray

Again recall, again recast;
Let your fine fingers raise once more
The curtains of the quiet past;
And there, beside the English fires
That sung and sparkled long ago,
The sires of your departed sires,

Thee, Mackintosh, artificer of light,
Thee, the lone smoker hails! the student, thee;
Thee, oft upon the ungovernable sea,
The seaman, conscious of approaching night;

Thou, with industrious fingers, hast outright
Mastered that art, of other arts the key,
That bids thick night before the morning flee,
And lingering day retains for mortal sight.

O Promethean workman, thee I hail,
Thee hallowed, thee unparalleled, thee bold
To affront the reign of sleep and darkness old,
Thee William, thee Æneas, thee I sing;
Thee by the glimmering taper clear and pale,
Of light, and light's purveyance, hail, the king.

NEW WRITINGS BY STEVENSON. Characteristic Poem and Letter recently unearthed in Samoa and now published for the first time.

The poem, 5 stanzas, without a title, begins as follows:—

Men marvel at the works of man
And with unstinted praises sing
The greatness of some worldly thing
Encompassed during one life's span;
An empire built, kingdom born.
And straightway men sound man's own horn.

The human brain's a wondrous work.
So chant the sages and the deans—
Those thought and labour go-betweens,
Who ever life's deep mysteries shirk.
A steel ribbed ship, an engine new—
Ah, mighty things strong man doth do!

PART VI

THE EDINBURGH EDITION OF THE WORKS OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

THISTLE EDITION
PENTLAND EDITION
SWANSTON EDITION

PART VI

THE EDINBURGH EDITION

In the spring of 1894 the following prospectus was put in circulation on a quarto sheet :—

'The representatives in this country of Mr. R. L. Stevenson have considered that the time has come to issue a Collected Edition of his works.

'Hitherto his books have been produced by different publishers in various forms. Mr. Stevenson's representatives have succeeded in arranging with these publishers for a Collected Edition; and from the fact that all have received this proposal in a generous spirit, and have signified their cordial co-operation, it is believed that the public will also welcome the proposed Edition, which will be revised by the author and issued under the supervision of Mr. Sidney Colvin of the British Museum.

'Arrangements have been made for the production of the Edition in Edinburgh; but the volumes will be issued by the agency of Messrs. Chatto and Windus, London.

'With the exception of some frontispieces, including an etched portrait of the author by his friend, Mr. W. Hole, R.S.A., it is intended that the books shall be printed without embellishment, but the materials and workmanship will be the best that modern resources can supply.

'The size of the book will be a moderately large 8vo (about 6×9 inches external), in style frankly modern and without affectation.

'The type will be bold and distinct, the paper pure and light, the page well margined and readable, and the printing that of CONSTABLE of Edinburgh.

'The binding will be perfectly plain cloth (with paper back-titles), resembling in ruddy hue the celebrated 48-volume Edition of the Waverley Novels.

'It is proposed to divide the Edition into sections (tentatively) as follows:—

|---|---|
| Travels and Excursions, | 2 vols. |
| Tales and Fantasies, | 6 ,, |
| Romances, | 6 ,, |
| History and Biography, | 2 ,, |
| Poetry, | 1 ,, |
| Miscellanies, | 3 ,, |
| Total, | 20 vols. |

'While the arrangement mentioned above is the scheme at present contemplated, the projectors are to be at liberty to make such alterations during the progress of the work as may seem to them expedient in the way of improvement. The number of volumes, however, remains fixed.

'The volumes in each section will be numbered separately, so as to allow any future works to be added to the Edition in their appropriate places.

'It is proposed not to adhere to the present arrangement of short papers, essays, and stories. Mr. Stevenson is at present engaged in re-arranging these volumes, so as to form more connected sequences than was possible at the time of production.

'In order to make the Edition thoroughly distinctive and as nearly complete as possible, many papers and articles not hitherto published in collected form will be included. Among these will probably be part of the suppressed "Amateur Emigrant," written in 1880, giving Mr. Stevenson's experiences as a steerage passenger on an American Liner; "The Pentland Rising," written in 1866; "The Philosophy of an Umbrella," written in undergraduate days; the very interesting unsigned articles contributed to The Portfolio, and other early papers.

'A certain discretion in the selection of these earlier papers is of course reserved to the Author.

'The Edition will be issued by subscription, at a nett price to the public of 12s. 6d. per volume, in monthly volumes, and orders for the series may be given through any bookseller.

'In order to ensure an enhanced value for this Edition in future the public Subscription will be strictly limited to 1000 copies. A guarantee is given that the only other copies printed will be for—

|---|---|
| 1. The Statutory Libraries, . . . . | 5 |
| 2. Complimentary to the Publishers whose consents were necessary, . . . . | 4 |
| 3. Reviews, . . . . . | 15 |
| 4. Author, . . . . . | 11 |
| In all, | 35 |

'Each volume subscribed by the public will be numbered and guaranteed by the signature of Mr. Stevenson's business representative, Mr. CHARLES BAXTER, Edinburgh.

'With this prospectus specimen pages are sent out to show the general appearance and size of type and page, but it is intended to have a special paper made for the Edition with Mr. Stevenson's initials in watermark on each page; and it may be that an entirely new type will be cut for the work.

'The printing will not be begun until the subscription list is nearly complete; but it may be mentioned that already, before the issue of this circular, nearly 300 sets of the Edition have been bespoken in America, New Zealand, and elsewhere. It will thus be seen that only about 700 sets are available for subscription in Great Britain.

'It is proposed (assuming the subscription to be filled up) to issue the first volume about October.

'Orders will be booked strictly according to priority of application.

'On behalf of and by authority of ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

'CHARLES BAXTER
'Edinburgh

'SIDNEY COLVIN
'London

'EDINBURGH, 28*th May* 1894.'

With this prospectus were issued specimen pages, consisting of title and first leaf of text, of Kidnapped, with the date 1894, and a form of order was printed on the last page of the circular.

It was Mr. Charles Baxter who projected 'The Edinburgh Edition,' and the idea was welcomed in the most appreciative manner by the author (Letters, 1899, ii. 328). His last letters to Mr. Colvin are full of suggestions for building up the work (Vailima Letters, 1895, pp. 330, 333, 341). It is curious that while he objected to the inclusion of two of his stories—probably The Story of a Lie and The Misadventures of John Nicholson, which the Editors have seen proper to reprint—he admitted that 'the beastly Body-Snatcher' had merit, and that he was unjust to it from his recollections of the Pall Mall. This story, however, met with rejection.

Besides the two stories which have just been mentioned, 'The Edinburgh Edition' contained a condensed and recast impression of The Amateur Emigrant, as well as several shorter essays and pieces, which have been duly noted in their respective places.

I have thought it unnecessary, for reasons of space, to give an exact copy of the title-page in every volume of 'The Edinburgh Edition.' It is sufficient to state that it is in each case headed with 'The Works of | Robert Louis | Stevenson,' followed by 'Miscellanies | Volume I,' or whatever the section might be to which it pertained, after which is the large device of the printers, and at the foot, 'Edinburgh | Printed by T. and A. Constable for | Longmans Green and Co: Cassell and Co. | Seeley and Co: Chas. Scribner's Sons | and sold by Chatto and Windus | Piccadilly: London,' ending with the date.

The size of the volumes is demy octavo, and they are bound in dark crimson buckram, with the titles printed on a back-title of yellowish glazed paper. A spare copy of this back title is inserted in each volume. The top edges are gilt, and the others left untrimmed.

It should be added that four special copies were printed on Japanese vellum for the author. These copies bore the following numbers and inscriptions :—

MI. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.
His book.

MII. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

CHARLES BAXTER.
Amicus Amico.

MIII. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON
TO
SIDNEY COLVIN.
Tibi Palinure !

MIV. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON
TO
WALTER BIGGAR BLAIKIE.
E typis tuis.

The original price of the twenty-seven volumes of 'The Edinburgh Edition,' at 12s. 6d. per volume, was £16, 17s. 6d., the 'Appendix' volume having been presented as a bonus to subscribers.

This volume was published in January 1895, and the following Notice was issued with it:—

'Since the issue of the last volume, Mr. Stevenson's readers throughout the world have had to deplore the tidings of his untimely death. That event will make no difference in the plan or progress of this Edinburgh Edition of his works. The successive volumes will be prepared for press by Mr. Sidney Colvin, with the author's corrections so far as they have been sent home, and will be issued to subscribers on the 15th of each month as heretofore.

'During the absence of Mr. Charles Baxter, who has gone to Samoa, the volumes of this Edition will, by his authority, be numbered and signed by Mr. W. B. Blaikie.

'January 1895.'

Attention may be called to the fact that pp. 1-106 of the present volume contains matter hitherto unpublished.

The matter referred to consisted of the first paper in the volume, entitled The Amateur Emigrant. This had been written in 1879, and was intended for publication at that time, but, not pleasing the fastidious taste of the author and his father, was laid by, and afterwards considerably abridged when it was finally decided to include it in 'The Edinburgh Edition.' In this connection the following note, which appeared in The Athenæum, No. 2728, Feb. 7, 1880, will be read with interest:—

'Mr. R. L. Stevenson has produced a third set of his charming impressions de voyage. The book is called The Amateur Emigrant, and sets forth how its author journeyed as a steerage passenger from Glasgow to New York, and how he afterwards went out West, from New York to California, in an emigrant train. His narrative will most probably see daylight first in the pages of a monthly magazine. It is understood that Mr. Stevenson has for some time had in preparation a little Monograph on Thoreau [published in The Cornhill Magazine for June 1880]. The Essays announced by us some weeks since will be published by Messrs. Kegan Paul and Co.'

In The Athenæum, No. 2765, Oct. 23, 1880, a further note was printed:—

'Mr. R. L. Stevenson has determined to suppress his Amateur Emigrant, announced by us some little time ago, and has withdrawn it from his publishers' hands. Mr. Stevenson's Essays, however, are in reserve, and will shortly be produced.'

These Essays were brought out under the title of Virginibus Puerisque in 1881.

[1] Mr. W. B. Blaikie has drawn my attention to an unintentional and hitherto unnoticed error in the Bibliographical Notes, which states that the publishers of the first edition of Prince Otto were 'Longmans & Co.' The publishers of this work have from the first been Messrs. Chatto and Windus.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTE TO Songs of Travel.

The following verses are here collected for the first time. The author had tried them in several different orders and under several different titles, as 'Songs and Notes of Travel,' 'Vailima,' 'Posthumous Poems,' etc.; finally leaving their naming and arrangement to the present editor, with the suggestion that they should be added, as Book III., to future editions of 'Underwoods.' Most of them are here first printed; others have already appeared elsewhere, e.g.: Nos. III., XI., XV., XVI., XLII., 'Pall Mall Gazette,' December 1894 and January 1895; XIII., XXXVIII., 'New Review,' January 1895; XXXVI., 'Longman's Magazine,' January 1895; XXXVII., 'Scribner's Magazine,' May 1890; XVI., Scots Observer, January 1889; XXXII., ibid., May 11, 1889; XXXV., ibid., April 5, 1890.

In No. xv., as originally printed on p. 291, the second stanza ended as follows:—

And when even dies, the million-tinted,
And the night has come, and planets glinted,
Lamp-bestarred.

A cancel leaf was subsequently issued, correcting the lines as under:—

And when even dies, the million-tinted,
And the night has come, and planets glinted,
Lo, the valley hollow,
Lamp-bestarred!

A note, printed on a loose slip of paper, was also issued, pointing out the error, and requesting that the cancel might be substituted in volume xiv.

Memoir of Fleeming Jenkin, . . . . . 1
(Part III. No. 8; reprinted Part I. No. 25.)
Records of a Family of Engineers, . . . . . 187

At page [188] is the following bibliographical note, signed S. C.:—

'The following fragment of family biography is here published for the first time. It had occupied the author at intervals for several years of his life in Samoa, and especially during the summer of 1893 (see "Vailima Letters," pp. 277, 297, etc.). It is printed substantially from a manuscript which he sent home in the autumn of that year, and which was at his request set up in type for further revision and correction. In the meantime he had received from a friend and namesake who is a specialist in genealogical research, Mr. J. H. Stevenson, Advocate, Edinburgh, a long communication which caused him to modify in several points his views concerning the family name and history. But, so far as is known, he had not before his death revised his original draft so as to embody the corrections received from this and other quarters. Accordingly the following chapters must be regarded as representing his first rather than his final conceptions of the subject. With the help of Mr. J. H. Stevenson, and from information furnished by some members of the family, the Editor has been enabled to make a certain number of corrections on matters of fact. All footnotes not followed by the author's initials are editorial.'

Under instructions from the author's family, two sets of the proofs of A Family of Engineers, pp. 191-389, with the portrait of Robert Stevenson as frontispiece, were bound up in dark-green boards, with the following title on a white paper back-piece Records | Of | A Family | of | Engineers | R. L. Stevenson. One of these special copies was presented to Mr. Edmund Gosse, and the other to Mr. J. Horne Stevenson, who had assisted the author in his genealogical researches.

SWANSTON EDITION: 1911.

Works, with an Introduction, by Andrew Lang. 25 vols., post octavo, uncut, top edges gilt, London, 1911.

Vol. XVIII. Editorial Note: 'The following chapters are selected from a series which was first published partially in Black and White (February to December 1891), and fully in the New York Sun during the same period.'

Stevenson intended, says the Note, to publish them in book form, but abandoned the idea until the Edinburgh Edition was maturing, when 'he desired that a selection should be made from them, and should form one volume of that edition. That desire was carried out. The same selection is here republished, with the addition of a half-section then omitted, describing a visit to the Kona coast of Hawaii and the leper's port of embarkation for Molokai. . . . The third section is fragmentary, and deals . . . with only one portion of the writer's experience in Hawaii.'

SELECTIONS FROM THE WORKS OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

(1)

The Stevenson | Birthday Book | Thoughts and Aphorisms | For every day in the Year, | from the Works of | Robert Louis Stevenson | London: Marcus Ward & Co., Limited, Belfast, New York, and Sydney. | MDCCCXCVII.

Collation:—Sixteenmo (6 in. by 4¼ in.), pp. 192, consisting of Half-title, p. [1]; Advertisement, p. [2]; Title-page as above, p. [3]; Foreword, pp. [4, 5]; Text, pp. 6-189; in centre of p. [190] is a design with Royal Crown and Shamrock, with the imprint, 'Printed and published by Marcus Ward & Co., Ld., London, Belfast, New York, & Sydney'; Advertisements, pp. [191, 192].

On the title-page is a heraldic design of the Stevenson arms, and motto, 'Cœlum non Solum,' with a laurel, goose-quill, and the monogram 'R.L.S.'

Published anonymously, but edited by W. MacDonald Mackay.

Issued in art linen boards, with the title and a decorative design with thistle and monogram 'R.L.S.' in gold. Also issued in French morocco, gilt edges, with autograph title design.

(2)

The Stevenson Reader | Selected Passages | from the Works of | Robert Louis Stevenson | Edited by | Lloyd Osbourne | Illustrated | [Publishers' Device.] | London | Chatto & Windus | 1898.

Collation:—Crown octavo, pp. viii + 264, consisting of Half-title, The Stevenson Reader, pp. [i, ii], on verso a list of Works by

Robert Louis Stevenson, within a one-line border; Frontispiece; Title-page as above, pp. [iii, iv], at foot of verso the imprint, 'Edinburgh: T. and A. Constable, Printers to Her Majesty'; Contents, pp. [v]-vii; List of Illustrations, p. [viii]; Text, pp. [1]-254; Glossary, pp. 255-261; p. [262] blank; in centre of p. [263] is the publishers' device; p. [264] blank. At foot of p. 261 is the imprint, 'Printed by T. and A. Constable, Printers to Her Majesty, at the Edinburgh University Press.'

Issued in blue buckram boards, with title, etc., in gold on the back.

In addition to the Frontispiece, which represents Skerryvore Lighthouse, there are nine other illustrations.

(3)

Stevensoniana | Being a Reprint of | Various Literary and | Pictorial Miscellany | Associated with | Robert Louis Stevenson | the Man and his Work | [Pictorial Device.] | The Bankside Press | M. F. Mansfield, 14 West 22nd Street, New York. [1900].

Collation:—Small quarto, pp. viii+96, consisting of Title-page as above, printed in red and black, pp. [i, ii], verso blank; Contents, pp. [iii, iv], verso blank; Illustrations, pp. [v, vi], verso blank; pp. [vii, viii], blank; Text, pp. [1]-94; pp. [95, 96] blank.

Issued in paper wrappers of various colours, with uncut edges, and an announcement on the front cover that the work would be published in Twelve Parts, each 25 cents, and the series $2.50. The first part was dated April 1900, and five more parts were issued at irregular intervals, the last being dated September 1900. With this part was issued a title-page, contents, and list of illustrations (with no indication of volume), and the work abruptly ceased. As a large number of subscribers paid the full subscription in advance, they find it difficult to understand why the remaining six parts, as promised on the cover, have not been issued. The little work promised to be of some interest, and in addition to two portraits of Stevenson, facsimile title-pages of Travels with a Donkey, An Inland Voyage, Not I, Black Canyon, The Pentland Rising, and A New Form of Intermittent Light were also given.

Some of these were bound up in light blue cloth, top edges gilt, other edges untrimmed. On the front is the title Stevensoniana and the thistle ornament in green. The back is lettered lengthwise in gold.

The Pocket | R.L.S. | Being Favourite | Passages from | the Works of | Stevenson | London | Chatto and Windus | 1902.

Issued in indigo cloth, with title and initials on back and side in gold.

It was originally intended that this little work should be issued in an India Paper edition, limited to 200 copies and bound in vellum. The following is a copy of the proof title-page :—

Selected Passages | from | the Writings | of | Robert Louis Stevenson. | Privately Printed | by | J. and A. Constable, | Edinburgh. | 1898.[1]

On verso of the sheet was the following Certificate of Issue :—

[Of this little Collection (the work of Lloyd | Osbourne) | 200 copies only are printed. | None are numbered; and the edition | is intended purely for the use of Amateurs. | C. Baxter.]

No copies, however, were printed, and the project fell through.

[1] In the name of the printer 'J.' is a misprint for 'T.'

(1)

Testimonials | in favor of | Robert Louis Stevenson, | Advocate. | (As Mr. Stevenson is at present on the Continent, | and cannot personally meet with the Electors, he has | considered it advisable to submit the accompanying | Testimonials for their perusal.) [Privately printed, 1881.]

Demy octavo, pp. 18, last page blank and unnumbered.

Inserted loosely at the commencement of the pamphlet is a double-octavo leaflet with the following brief letter printed upon p. 1 :—

'17 Heriot Row,
14*th October* 1881.

'Sir,

Mr. Æneas J. G. Mackay having recently resigned the Chair of History in the University of Edinburgh, I beg to offer myself as a Candidate.

Your most obedient Servant,
ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.'

Some letters relative to the candidature of R. L. S. for this professorial chair in Edinburgh University will be found in Letters to his Family and Friends, i. 205-210. He himself characterised his attempt to stand as 'a mad thing'; and it was a fortunate thing for letters and his fame that he did not succeed in his aspirations.

(2)

Objects of Pity ; | or, | Self and Company. | By | A Gentleman of Quality. | [line] | Imprinted at Amsterdam. [1892].

[56] is blank.

Issued in vegetable-parchment wrappers, lettered 'Objects of Pity' in gold diagonally across the front wrapper, gilt edges.

Written by Mr. Bazett M. Haggard in reply to An Object of Pity.

(3)

A | Letter to Mr. Stevenson's Friends. | 'I have been waiting for you these many | years. Give me your hand, and welcome.' | For private circulation. | MDCCCXCIV.

Collation.—Twelvemo, pp. ii+38, consisting of Title-page as above, p. [i]; Note, p. [ii]; Text of Letters, etc., pp. 1-[37]; p. [38] blank.

Of the contents, Mr. Lloyd Osbourne's contribution occupies pp. 1-6; Mr. Haggard's, pp. 7-15; Mr. Mackay's, pp. 16-27; Rev. W. E. Clarke's, pp. 28-31 ; Note about Mr. Stevenson's intention to put up a notice by the new road, p. 32; Mr. Gosse's poem, pp. 33, 34; verses in Samoan, pp. 35-37.

The Prefatory Note is as follows :—

'My grateful thanks are due to the friends who have assisted me in the writing of this little book: to Bazett Michael Haggard Esq., H.B.M.'s Land Commissioner, in Samoa; to James H. Mulligan, U.S. Consul-General to Samoa; to A. W. Mackay Esq., of the Friendly Islands and Samoa; and to the Rev. W. E. Clarke, of the London Missionary Society. The first letter, which by accident was left unsigned is from my own pen.

'I have ventured also to reprint Mr. Gosse's beautiful lines, "To Tusitala in Vailima," which reached Mr. Stevenson but three days before his death.

LLOYD OSBOURNE.'

'Dec. 17th, 1894.'

There is no imprint, or indication of origin, in this little brochure, but it was printed in Apia at the office of The Samoa Times.

A limited number were printed on thick paper.

Stevensoniana | Edited by | J. A. Hammerton | [Publishers' device.] | A. Wessels Company, New York. | London | Grant Richards | 48 Leicester Square | 1903.

Collation:—Demy octavo, pp. xvi+350.

The frontispiece is a photogravure of a portrait of Robert Louis Stevenson. The book also contains views of a Shop at Corner of Antigua St., Edinburgh, p. 14, and of No. 10 West Street, New York p. 42.

This interesting work, which is indispensable to the student of Stevenson, chiefly consists of biographical and critical notices of that writer gleaned from a large variety of sources, the 'single aim ever before the editor being to search for his material in the forgotten pages of English and American periodicals, and in books by writers of eminence not entirely concerned with Stevenson.'

The book was issued in the format and binding of the Edinburgh Stevenson.

In 1907 a 'new and revised edition' of Stevensoniana was published by John Grant, 31 George IV. Bridge, Edinburgh, uniform with the 'Pentland Edition' of Stevenson's Works, pp. xviii + 350. The volume contained a good deal of additional matter, as well as thirty photogravures and half-tone plates, comprising about forty portraits and views associated with the career of Robert Louis Stevenson.

A BIOGRAPHY OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.
By Ernest Dressel North.

---

[1] Mrs. Margaret Hamilton McElroy, of Canandaigua, New York, has been kind enough to give me a photograph of this house, taken in March 1898. She writes: 'It is not so good a picture as the one in The Book Buyer of February 1896, but it is more recent, and shows the building after it had ceased to be occupied. I hunted up the old caretaker, who stands at the door with the key, and induced him to let me wander through the deserted rooms and up into the miserable little box with its "two borrowed lights," where Stevenson lay all night with unclosed eyes, recalling McNaughton's gruesome tale.' In a later letter, the same correspondent writes: 'My sister, who has just paid another visit to the house, writes me that it still stands, and is unchanged, from the time of our pilgrimage, as to structure, while the Indian still guards the neighbouring cigar shop; but the broken panes of glass in the Reunion House are now made whole, and over a heap of oranges, a thought too ripe, in the lower window, are the homelike words—"Charlie's Restaurant."'

I make no apology for giving this recent description of the wretched shanty in which Stevenson, who perhaps more than any English writer has bridged the two continents, passed the first night of his arrival in New York as 'The Amateur Emigrant.'

AN UNIQUE BIT OF STEVENSONIANA. By Albert Lee.

An account of the Samoan version of The Bottle Imp, with a facsimile page from the Samoan newspaper, O Le Sulu Samoa, printed in seven monthly instalments, May to December 1891.

The Bottle Imp. In May 1891 a translation of this story was commenced as a serial in O Le Sulu Samoa, a missionary paper printed monthly in the Samoan language at Apia, and continued in seven instalments until December 1891. It is said that this was the first serial story ever read by the Samoans in their own language, and that as a result of its publication the natives ever afterwards called Stevenson 'Tusitala' = 'the teller of tales.' The editor of O Le Sulu Samoa was the Rev. Mr. Newell. The Samoan title of The Bottle Imp was O Le Fagu Aitu.

'R. L. S.' By W. E. Henley.

With portrait from a sketch taken at one sitting by Sir W. B Richmond, R.A., now in the National Portrait Gallery.

This article formed the literary 'sensation' of the Christmas season of 1901. It was noticed—generally in terms of condemnation—by nearly all the principal London and provincial daily and weekly papers. To enumerate these articles would be of no utility, and I will confine myself to specifying the paper which, under the heading of Literary Quarrels, Mr. Andrew Lang contributed to The Morning Post of December 16, 1901, as it sums up the whole matter in language which presents an agreeable blend of chivalry, humour, and good sense.

Mr. CLEMENT SHORTER in the 'SPHERE,' says:—'Mr. A. P. Webb has produced an exceedingly useful and suggestive book.'

The 'OBSERVER' says:—'Readers and students of the works of Mr. Thomas Hardy, especially the collector of first editions, will welcome a bibliography of his works, which has been compiled with great care and exactitude by Mr. A. P. Webb.'

'The exigencies of military service have not prevented Mr. A. P. Webb from completing an undertaking for which the numerous admirers of Mr. Hardy will feel genuinely grateful. Although confining his attention, except in exceptional cases, to first editions, and to publications in this country, Mr. Webb has within these limits accomplished his task in a thorough, careful, and scientific manner.'—The Scotsman.

'Cadet A. P. Webb, of the Artists' Rifles, as he was in March, had no doubt done the drilling for this work ere he donned the khaki; and so it does not fail in completeness because its author had gone a-soldiering before its publication. He has, indeed, been better than his title, for works issued during the present year appear in his lists. Being concerned primarily with the first editions collector, Mr. Webb has omitted particulars of later editions; but for the earlier issues his collations and descriptions are minutely complete. The volume is invaluable to the Hardy student.'—The Glasgow Herald.
